

Appeal To Fight On Reds

President Li of China Makes it To 'Peace Loving Peoples' of World

By the Associated Press

In a statement commemorating the fourth anniversary of victory over Japan, Acting President Li Tsung-Jen of Nationalist China appealed today to "all peace loving peoples of the world" to join in a fight against international Communism.

Chinese Communist forces were surging into Kwangtung province in which Canton, the nationalist provisional capital, is located.

Li said: "Unless our freedom is protected, our sacrifices during World War II will have been made in vain. The brutal force employed by the Communists and their totalitarian ideas far surpass those of the Fascists, and their threat to the cultural and spiritual achievements of mankind is even more dangerous than was that of Hitler, Mussolini and the former Japanese militarists."

In Tokyo, Premier Shigeru told the Japanese people they should pay back the money Japan has received from the United States for aid since the war. Only in that way, he indicated, would Japan maintain "its old reputation abroad as a nation which never defaulted on its foreign obligations."

New Light on Cold War
New light was shed on the pattern of the cold war between Yugoslavia and Russia. The Communist Journal, published in Bucharest, Romania, said there is an organization of anti-Tito Communists within Yugoslavia.

Anti-Tito Communist exile movements, it said, have their own radio station and publish four newspapers which circulate within Yugoslavia. The United Nations World, a privately printed publication in New York, said Tito is preparing to launch a new world-wide Communist organization to compete against Russian Communism.

Western diplomats in Bucharest expressed belief Russia and her satellites would not engage in a shooting war to force Yugoslavia back into the fold.

A group of financial experts of Britain, Canada and the United States have prepared the basis for talks next week among top-ranking cabinet members on Britain's financial plight. The experts have prepared a six-point plan for helping Britain. Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, and Ernest Bevin, foreign secretary, are on their way to Washington for the talks, which begin Sept. 7.

Rebel forces in Bolivia reported today they are marching on Tarija, a southern city of 20,000 population. The Nationalist rebels are attempting to overthrow the middle-of-the-road Bolivian government.

Wish to Have Babe Born Here Gratified

Mrs. Clementine Antinori Happy With Her Child

Andre Amilo Antinori, two-day-old son of Amilio and Clementine Antinori beamed with happiness as he and mother posed for a picture at the Bothwell hospital this morning.

The attractive mother, whose stage name is Antinora, is a ballet and light operetta star on the west coast and has been in show business since she was 13 years of age.

A. A. A. Antinori was born, August 31, at 12:28 a. m., weighing six pounds, one ounce. According to his mother, it was planned he be born in Sedalia, simply because Mrs. Antinori likes Sedalia. She remained in Sedalia, after the fair people left, so that she could give birth to her child.

Here Past Five Years
The Antinoris have been coming to the Missouri State Fair for the past five years. Antinora entertained fair-goers in the Woman's Building last year during fair week.

Her husband, who is a jeweler at Los Angeles, Calif., also operates jewelry concessions at fairs, and this year had three at the fair here. At the present time, Mr. Antinori is at Des Moines, Ia., and will return to Sedalia in the morning.

Mrs. Antinori, who was up and around two days after the baby was born, is seeking a capable nurse who will accompany them to California. They plan to leave Sedalia soon, and expect to be at their home, 12044 1/2 Guerin street, Studio City, North Hollywood, Calif., by the first of November.

Antinora said the reason for the long name given her son was to satisfy the entire family and after the baby grows up, he can pick his own favorite name to go by.

Andre is a French name, Amilio, Italian and Anthony, Latin and Antinori is Italian.

Smith Not Seek A Senate Seat

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 2.—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith said today "I positively am not" a candidate for United States senator.

The statement came while the governor was telling his news conference about visiting President Truman for Washington. He said they did not talk politics, and he had heard very little political talk in Washington.

(The President has been quoted previously as saying he plans to take no part in the Missouri Democratic primary next year, which will choose an opponent for the Republican opponent, Sen. Forrest Donnell.)

Smith said he told the President his home state of Missouri "is in better shape now than almost any other state in the Union."

There is little unemployment, the Governor reported, the state is expecting bumper crops, tax collections are holding up and the state is in good financial condition.

Killed on Guard Rail Pierced Body

CALIFORNIA, Mo., Sept. 2.—(P)—A wooden bridge guard rail pierced the body of Earl W. Shiles and killed him in an automobile accident early today.

The Highway Patrol said Shiles, about 40, of Jefferson City, was riding with Clyde Holder, 28, of California. Their car hit a bridge abutment on Highway 87, six miles south of here and careened into the guard rails, snapping them off.

Warns Against Bogus Bills

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—(P)—The secret service warned merchants today against counterfeit $10 bills which it said were being circulated widely in the Kansas City area.

Howard S. Anderson, supervising agent for the secret service here, said passers of the counterfeit note probably would take full advantage of the Labor Day bank holiday. Business houses, he said, should be particularly alert for the bogus money tomorrow.

Anderson said the notes are on the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va., and that they were made by a photo-engraving process. He explained they all bore the same serial number in the upper right and lower left corners. The number is E269 689 59A. He said that to the right of the picture of Hamilton is the check letter and face plate number F28 Hamilton's face, he said, is not as well executed as the genuine bill and that the paper, although of high quality, does not have red and blue silk fibers through it.

Robeson Plans For Concert

Veterans Intend To Parade Past Concert Scene

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(P)—Paul Robeson says he will hold a concert Sunday—a mile from where a riot broke up a scheduled appearance last week—and veterans groups say they'll stage a parade to protest it, as they did before.

The Negro singer, declaring "There'll be no more Peekskill—no like that," announced his acceptance last night of an invitation to sing Sunday afternoon in nearby Cortlandt, where the riot raged last Saturday.

Fourteen veterans groups immediately countered at a meeting near here with plans to hold a parade past the new concert scene that would be what they termed "a conclusive demonstration against Communism."

A scheduled concert by the Negro singer—who has been actively identified with leftist movements—broke up into a fierce riot Saturday after veterans groups staged a counter-demonstration.

At least eight persons were injured, two seriously.

Robeson will sing Sunday under auspices of the "Westchester committee for law and order," which describes itself as a non-political group formed after last week-end's disturbance.

Group Is Boosed

In Albany, meanwhile, a "civil rights" group protesting the riot in a march on the state capitol was boosed last night by a crowd of some 3,000 persons. No disorder was reported.

Robeson, announcing his new concert at a New York meeting, said: "If none of the state troopers show up, we'll be protected, we'll be there, and we'll have a concert, with many artists from all over the United States."

Alan M. Grant, Jr. supervisor of the town, said a parade permit was granted to the veterans—comprising 14 posts of various organizations—last night.

A spokesman for the veterans said nine American Legion posts, three Veterans of Foreign Wars groups, and one Catholic War Veterans and one Jewish War Veterans post will be represented.

Dr. Silas M. Sewell Dies

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 2.—(P)—Dr. Silas McDennery Sewell, 81, a retired college professor of mathematics and astronomy, died at his home here today.

Pledges Voice Of Legion Be Important

Active Part to be Taken in Social And Political Life

By Lee Linder

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—(P)—The American Legion's new national commander—40-year-old George N. Craig of Brazil, Ind.—stood pledged today to make that organization "an important voice in the nation's political and social life."

The Hoosier lawyer—the first World War II veteran named to head the Legion—was chosen yesterday in a nip-and-tuck race with three other candidates. The job pays $15,000 annually and carries with it a $35,000 expense allowance.

Philadelphia, its streets washed clean of Legion literature, resumed quiet normalcy today after four days of serious discussion, speechmaking, politicking and parading that marked the Legion's 31st national convention.

The convention's over—1950 is next. And in November the Legion's national executive committee will decide where the 32nd conclave will be: Los Angeles, Boston and New York are bidding for the site.

Craig rolled into office in thumping majorities given him by a half dozen of the Legion's biggest state departments—Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Indiana and New York.

The new leader, serenaded by a Hoosier band as he strode to the rostrum, accepted the responsibility of "making the Legion an important voice in the nation's political and social life."

Unity of Purpose

"My generation has already carried the responsibility of national security, in time of war," Craig said, "and now we join, in unity of purpose, our older comrades x x x in promoting and safeguarding those principles necessary for our continued strength and prosperity as a nation."

An estimated 60,000 legionnaires attended the mommouth conclave which retiring national commander Perry Brown, Beaumont, Tex., called "the best in our long and colorful history."

The 60,000 came in part to parade and make merry. They did both—well. The Legion marched into Philadelphia's hearts with a 12-hour parade seen by 1,500,000 people.

But the convention's business job was handled by 6,700 delegates and alternates. They sorted through more than 1,000 resolutions.

The Legion took these stands:

1. The U. S. should retain atomic energy under civilian control and not share the atom secrets with any nation, including our allies.

2. Aid to China nationalists fighting Communism.

3. Curtailment "as far as possible" of any further immigration at the present time.

4. Approval of universal military training and end of the present draft law.

5. Establishment of a national Air Academy.

6. Endorsement of a self-help plan to bring new jobs, industry and housing to the nation's cities and towns.

7. The Communist party "should be outlawed."

In each instance, the Legion called on its membership to support the Legion program and to fight for its adoption.

Unearth Remains of a Primitive Group on Plains

By Art Everett

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(P)—Extensive remains of a primitive group of hunters, who roamed the American west thousands of years before Christ's birth, have been unearthed near Cody, Wyo., it was disclosed here today.

Dr. Loren Eiseley of the University of Pennsylvania said the Wyoming camp site probably dates back to between 5,000 and 12,000 years before Christ.

He called the first one of the most important ever made in connection with the culture of the Yuma, the nomadic group who disappeared centuries ago as a cultural unit. They were among the earliest known inhabitants of the new world.

Dr. Eiseley estimated that the ancient camp site covered about 600 square feet of a terrace overlooking Sage creek, five miles northeast of Cody.

The valuable deposit of tools, weapons and food remains were preserved through the centuries by dusty desert sands, now covering the camp site to a depth of about 18 inches.

Son Has Polio After Charity Game

AURORA, Ill., Sept. 2.—(P)—Fire Lieut. Carl Numrich was one of the hardest workers in the promotion of Wednesday night's charity baseball game between the city's firemen and policemen. He was one of the players in the contest won by the firemen, 16 to 10. A big turnout brought $4,000 for the purchase of iron lungs for polio treatment. Yesterday Numrich's six year old son, Bobbie, became ill. The case was diagnosed as infantile paralysis.

Was Injured by Recoiling Howitzer

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo., Sept. 2.—(P)—New personnel injuries continued to plague National Guardsmen camped here yesterday as Lieut. Gen. Stephen J. Chamberlain, commanding general of the fifty army, paid an official visit.

The general, accompanied by other fifth army officers, spent the day visiting various units that are in training here.

The latest in the series of mishaps occurred when Sgt. Manuel Martinez of Las Vegas, N. Mex., a regular army instructor, was critically injured by a recoiling 105 mm howitzer.

He was taken to the general hospital at Waynesville, suffering a fractured skull.

Strike on at Big Milk Plant

Farmers Put to Work at Producers In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 2.—(P)—Workers at Producers Creamery company here, the world's largest milk plant under one roof, struck for higher wages at 8 o'clock this morning.

Farmer-patrons of the plant, a unit of the Missouri Farmers Association, promptly took over the struck workers' duties and announced they'll run the huge milk plant until the strike is settled.

L. O. Wallis, president of the company, said farmers, recruited from a 40-mile radius of Springfield, "will go ahead and operate the plant."

Number of strikers, members of United Packinghouse Workers (CIO), is estimated at 160. The plant had been operating three shifts around the clock.

Wallis said the company has between 150 and 200 farmers available for duty in the plant. Only about 50 had been outfitted with white uniforms and put to work at mid-morning.

Office Workers Cross Line

Unaffected by the strike are the company's supervisory personnel and office workers. They were allowed to cross the union's picket lines without incident this morning.

Company officials said supervisors will be able to operate the refrigeration equipment and boilers.

The union notified the company at 11:30 last night that the crew reporting at midnight for an eight hour shift would be the last before the strike was called.

The union is asking a wage increase of 11 cents an hour. The company has offered no increase about two months of negotiations.

The Producers plant has a capacity of 1,250,000 pounds of milk a day, although it's operating at considerably less than capacity now because the flush season for milk is past. It manufactures butter and condensed milk, and ships some fresh cream to southern and southwestern states.

The Producers company operates plants at Monett, Eldorado Springs and Lebanon, but company officials said they were not affected by the strike.

Tells BPWC Club About Family Ties

Mrs. Katy Baker is Guest Speaker at Club Dinner

"The roots of man must go down deep into common humanity, if he is to sense his kinship with all men. It is from this source that integrity, personal or professional, must take its strength. Storm and wind can only sway, and never break, a purpose so rooted," said Mrs. Katy Baker, guest speaker at the Business and Professional Women's club Thursday night at the Bothwell hotel. Mrs. Baker, who is with the Family Service in Kansas City, resided in Sedalia for several years at which time she was in Social Welfare Work in Pettis county.

"To define social work is almost impossible," Mrs. Baker said, "because it embraces so many things. Formally, it is divided into social groups, social case work, community organization, which means social action, usually legislative, and research, which helps us to define what we are trying to do. But they all tie in together, for in case work we see the end of results, in wrecked human beings, of the lack of good legislation, and good community planning, and in social action one needs to be inspired by the knowledge that these wrecks can be prevented, before one makes a real effort."

Family Problems

"We are concerned with the problems of families and children, in any area from work with unmarried mothers, the adoption of children, to counselling on problems of marriage," the speaker said. "The foundation for this is the belief that any human being, regardless of age, responds to an atmosphere of acceptance and understanding, and uses the experience of understanding to grow into more of the person he is capable of becoming."

Mrs. Baker told of the unmarried mothers who were helped for months even after the baby was born. Of the mother's problem of deciding on whether to give the baby up to a good home as she knew she should for the betterment of her baby or whether to keep the child. Most of the time the girl is not in her condition because she is bad, the speaker said, but because of deprivations and things lacking in her life and she responds to the unmarried motherhood rather than psychosis or crime. These girls are from all walks of life, she said.

Mrs. Baker told of the foster mothers who give the babies love and individual attention they need, yet who are big enough and loving enough to give them up (Please turn to Page 4, Column 4)

Praise Picture Hung Wrong

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 2.—(P)—People attending the Ohio state fair here this week have "ohed" and "ahed" over a large oil painting in the Arts and Crafts building. Painted by Columbus Artist Emerson C. Burkhardt, it is titled "The Light Is Greater, Hence the Shadows More."

Echoes of the praise reached Burkhardt. He decided to see how his work compared with other paintings. Imagine his surprise on finding the picture hanging vertically when it was intended to be horizontal.

Burkhardt protested to Harvis A. Stewart, director of the show. The artist said he had sought "a sense of mechanical movement." It was lost as the picture hung, he declared.

Stewart disagreed. He is an art teacher at Ohio Wesleyan University. "Everybody liked this picture as it is now exhibited, why change it?" he asked.

Burkhardt said the underside of an old automobile in a junk yard served as his model. He tried to show a "sense of motion" in the painting, but he wondered if he failed. "They couldn't have made this colossal mistake and not discovered it" otherwise, he speculated.

Jeweler's Wife and Friend Robbed of $4,410

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—(P)—A jeweler, his wife and a friend were held up by two armed men at his home last night and robbed of jewelry and currency. The loss was estimated at $4,410.

Mrs. Elaine Westerman said she, her husband and Charles Barnett were accosted as they arrived at their home from downtown, where they had just closed their jewelry shop.

She reported that as the three drove into the driveway two men appeared suddenly and poked pistols through the open windows of the car and held them against the heads of her husband, Irving Westerman, and Barnett.

Fully 100 Were On Balanced Farm Tour

Stops Made at Well Improved Farms Tuesday

At least 100 people, including several members of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, followed the route of the Balanced Farming Tour Tuesday, August 30th. The tour was under the leadership of county agent Roy L. Coplen and associate agent Melie Vaughan.

Poultry and Dairy at Bagbys
The first stop was at the J. H. Bagby farm operated by Forrest Miller where both a model dairy and similar poultry set up were seen.

The dairy set up includes a new loafing barn and a separate building where 6 cows can be milked at one time. This building also houses a feed room, wash room and a milk room where the milk is strained and cooled for market. A new silo is now being built, a field of alfalfa is being seeded this fall and the crop rotation and pasture system are nearly in gear.

The poultry program includes 2 modern laying houses that will house 900 laying hens. Two fenced holes are planned for each house. Approximately 1200 White Rock pullets were observed on range where they were housed in 6 range shelters. Three separate pullet ranges have been planned to coincide with the crop rotation. A site just east of the dwelling house is being leveled off to provide a permanent location for the brooder houses. Range shelters will be used as sun porches to keep the baby chicks off the ground. Then when the pullets are 7 to 8 weeks old they will be moved out in the shelters to the range to be used that year.

A 2-acre garden was also seen. One area was this year's garden and the other had a nice crop of soybeans just coming up that will be plowed under this fall ready for early planting of the garden next spring. The Millers also plan to put out some strawberries in the spring.

Dairy Improvements at Ficken's

W. J. Ficken reported that the milking parlor he constructed in his old barn cost about $300 for materials and labor. This material was mainly concrete, stanchions, windows, etc., as he had salvaged most of the needed lumber from another old building. To this he had added a milk room of concrete blocks, which fully equipped with an electric (Please turn to Page 3, Column 3)

Company Time Theft Charged

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 2.—(P)—The theft of company time is the basis for a larceny charge brought by the Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corp. here.

The company accused Charles Maclaren, an employee, of using company time, material and equipment to make a television antenna. In its complaint the firm estimated the value of the time at $29.75, the material at $10.26, and the overhead at $10.03, a total of $50.04. Maclaren, arraigned yesterday before Magistrate John L. McGuire, denied the charge. The case was adjourned until Sept. 9.

A former president of Local 441, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO), Maclaren led an eight-month strike against Phelps Dodge in 1946.

Pause Is Taken In Inquiry

Jess Larson in Assertion Five Percenter Middlemen 'On the Way Out'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will insist that Frank Costello of New York, reputed "slot machine king," be called as a witness in the Senate investigation of "five percenters."

"I think Costello is a very necessary and important witness," McCarthy told a reporter today.

By Oliver W. De Wolf

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—The government started squeezing closed the doors on five percenters today as probing senators paused to take stock in their month-long search for improper influence in federal contracting.

Chairman Hoey (D-NC) of the Senate Investigating subcommittee recessed the inquiry yesterday for at least a month while the staff studies the evidence taken so far.

The government's chief purchasing officer, Jess Larson, assured the senators before the hearings closed that the middleman in government contracting is on the way out.

Larson, who heads the new Government Services Administration, testified that he, Secretary of Defense Johnson and Budget director "Frank" Page had worked out a plan to make direct contracting easier for small businesses.

No Need of Services

Unethical firms will be black-listed and federal employees warned about taking favors, he said, adding:

"It is my honest opinion that this procedure, together with the policy of decentralizing procurement and the maintaining of adequate, courteous and efficient information centers will cause the so-called five percenter to wane and die because there will be no need for his services."

The term five percenter has been used to describe those who seek out government contracts for others for a fee—usually five percent. That activity isn't illegal, but the Senate group has been searching for signs that it involved "influence peddling."

No sooner had the committee suspended hearings for the present than some members began to look toward the time when the inquiry resumes.

When that time comes, William Helis, oil operator and racing figure, probably will take over the spotlight which centered during the first phase of the investigation on President Truman's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan.

Propose Cut in Printers' Wages

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—The Washington Publishers' Association has proposed "a substantial reduction in wages" to the members of Columbia Typographical Union 101 employed on the capital's four daily newspapers.

The union will act on its reply at a meeting Sunday. It was freely predicted that a counter proposal, suggesting a wage boost, will be the union's answer.

The publishers said in a letter accompanying proposals for a contract effective Nov. 11 that "in view of the present economic trend, a substantial reduction in wages is justified."

The employers added, "In view of the over-all seriousness of the wage question, it is a matter that should be discussed by the scale committee of the publishers and union."

In their proposals, the publishers left the wage issue blank.

Washington's daily newspapers are the Evening Star and the News, afternoon; the Washington Post, morning; and the Times-Herald, morning and afternoon.

O. B. Poundstone Be Boosters' Speaker

Ask Advice on Feeding of a Giant Turtle

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The South Korean republic has called for American advice on the care and feeding of a 500-pound (and maybe 1000-year-old) turtle.

To Syngman Rhee, president of the infant republic located on the Asiatic fringe of the Iron Curtain, the big turtle is an omen of longevity and prosperity for his country.

Fishermen brought the turtle ashore a few days ago and Rhee ordered it housed in the Seoul zoo.

The appeal for Yankee know-how was telephoned to the Associated Press Washington bureau by Phillip Han, first secretary of the Korean embassy.

Han said the big turtle is seven feet long and six feet wide.

(A news dispatch from Seoul reported today that President Rhee is keeping the hoary old sea dweller's spirits high with liberal helpings of wine. Rhee accepted fishermen's estimate the turtle is 1000 years old.)

Mrs. Lolo Dees, government fish and wildlife information specialist began digging into the agency's turtle files.

The Interior Department aquarium and the Washington Zoo said the turtle should be fed on marine fish—frozen or freshly caught—and fish scraps. They didn't men-

For a Louder Voice to Jurors

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Missouri Bar committee has drawn up a proposal to give jurors a louder voice in trials by allowing them wider latitude in asking questions of witnesses.

A committee spokesman said today the proposal would be submitted to the board of governors of the Missouri bar at its meeting here Sept. 10.

Under present trial procedure,

Han said he would forward to Seoul all advice received—along with his own suggestion that the big fellow be returned to the sea to live another 1000 years.

jurors may request that certain questions be asked. If attorneys for either side object, however, the questions cannot be put.

The committee's proposal would let the judge decide on propriety of a question in the event one of the attorneys object.

At the forthcoming meeting the committee also will:

1. Recommend raising jurors' fees from $3 a day to a minimum of $5 and a maximum of $10.
2. Criticize judges whose attention strays from court proceedings, "sometimes reading their mail."
3. Suggest that courtrooms in rural areas "be cleaned up and changed from dingy and dirty conditions sometimes found."

Everyone Is Invited To The GROW GRASS DAY DEMONSTRATION

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8th
10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

To Be Held On The

BEN JENKINS FARM

Formerly Known as the Schafer Farm, located on Highway 65, Three Miles South of Highway 50.

First you are invited to visit last year's demonstration field at 9 A. M. at the Turner farm, located 4 miles west of Sedalia on Highway 50, then go to the Jenkins farm

You'll See Plenty of ACTION!
It's Educational! It's Profitable!

BE ON HAND—
SEE OLD PASTURE LAND MADE PRODUCTIVE!

This land will be limed, phosphated, fertilized, plowed, disced, harrowed and seeded on September 8th before your eyes. This work will be done by Sedalia Implement dealers with their equipment.

Lunch Will Be Served On Grounds!

Operators and landlords interested in good farming can profit by this demonstration. 100,000 acres of Pettis county land in permanent pasture now produces low yields of poor quality feed due to low calcium, low nitrogen, low phosphate and many times low potash content. The carrying capacity of many pastures can be doubled.

Water and soil conservation contractors will be digging a pond, constructing a standard terrace and a terrace outlet. The outlet will be limed, manured, fertilized, seeded and crossed bermed on September 8th. Four acres of old pasture will be treated with lime, raw rock phosphate and potash and seeded to a mixture of grasses and legume.

Three specialists for the Extension Service of Missouri University College of Agriculture will be present to explain operations.

The following implement and machinery dealers and soil and water conservation contractors are sponsoring this program and invite the farm families of Central Missouri to see this demonstration:

Vatican Rules Against Group Of Catholics

Who Contend There Is No Salvation
 Outside The Church

BOSTON, Sept. 2 — (AP)—Archbishop Richard J. Cushing announced last night the Vatican ruled against a group of Boston Catholics who contend there is no salvation outside the Catholic church.

Headed by a Catholic priest,
 they have carried on a bitter public dispute with the Boston hierarchy over the issue for the past five months.

The prelate made the decision
 public in "The Pilot," official publication of the Boston archdiocese. Neither the archbishop or any other authority would make any additional comment.

Council Ruled

Archbishop Cushing, in The Pilot, said the decision was made by the supreme sacred congregation of the Holy office, over which the Pope presides. The congregation met in plenary session July 27, the announcement said, and sent the ruling to Archbishop Cushing through the Most Rev. Amleto G. Cicognani, apostolic delegate in Washington.

The dissident group, headed by the Rev. Leonard J. Feeney, S. J., meet in Cambridge under the name St. Benedict's Center. has been under interdict—banned to Catholics—and Fr. Feeney has been without his priestly privileges.

Inconsistent Teachings

Pointing out that the teachings of St. Benedict's Center are inconsistent with the pronouncements of Pope Pius XII, the sacred congregation declared:

"x x x It is clear that the doctrine presented x x x as genuine Catholic teaching is far from being such, and can do nothing but grave harm both to those who are in the church and to those outside it."

The Vatican communication sharply censured Fr. Feeney for his part in the disagreement. On several occasions, the Jesuit priest vigorously criticized archdiocesan leaders including Archbishop Cushing and the Most Rev. John J.
 Wright, auxiliary bishop.

Held In Killing Over A Woman

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 2—(P)
 —Police arrested Charles A.
 Greene, charged with murder at Tacoma, Wash., as Greene lay sleeping Thursday in an apartment at nearby Gresham.

Detective Leonard Shaffer said
 state and Portland police walked through an unlocked door and found Greene asleep. He offered no resistance when awakened. In an oral statement he admitted killing Robert Lee Autry in a Tacoma tavern last night, Shaffer said.

The detective added that Greene said, in the statement made to him and to state patrolman Robert H. Wampler, that he shot Autry in an argument over Greene's wife.

A pistol, which Shaffer said
 was used in the killing, was found in the Fresham apartment.

Shaffer said local police went there on a tip from Tacoma police. The apartment is occupied by a relative of Greene's, he said.

At the Portland police station
 Greene waived extradition.
 Greene, 23-year-old paroled convict formerly of St. Louis, Mo., was charged with murder after witnesses named him as the gun
 wielder, Det. Capt. Larry Ad-mundson said at Tacoma.

Young Woman Tries Robbery

DALLAS, Sept. 2 — (P) — A slight, neatly dressed young blonde woman attempted to rob Dallas National bank Thursday by threatening a teller with a hand-written note.

She fled when the teller slammed the cage window down.

Officials of the bank said the woman, "about 20 to 25," quietly
 appeared before teller Eddie H.
 Meisch's cage and shoved a note
 into Meisch.

"Your life depends on your actions in the next few minutes," the note read. It asked money in The above pictures of trainingscenes at Fort Leonard Wood were taken by members of a party of visitors to that place

 Sunday, August 28, showing Sedalians in activities there.

$10, $20, $50, and $100 bills. It was signed "the bandit."

Meisch said a handkerchief in one of the woman's hands covered what could have been a gun.

The teller made a motion toward opening the cash drawer,
 then suddenly slammed the cage
 window and stepped back.

The frail woman walked quickly out of the bank and was lost in the downtown crowds.

"We never did find out just how much money she wanted," a bank official said.

Drew Pearson Tells Of Vaughan Activity; Senator McCarthy In Bitter Criticism

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—President Truman said today he plans to keep Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan on as his military aide.

But he barely had finished making that statement when:

1. Columnist Drew Pearson testified that in 1946 Vaughan had tried to intervene in the income tax fraud case of W. T. Burton, a Lake Charles, La., oil man.

Later that year, Pearson said, there were rumors of large contributions to the Kansas City Democratic primaries in an effort to prevent Burton's conviction.

2. Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said that Mr. Vaughan is the same as telling other government employees that what "Mr. Vaughan has done is perfectly proper, and go thou and do likewise."

"Unlimited Graft" Said McCarthy:

"I believe, Mr. Chairman, that will lead to unlimited graft and corruption in the government."

Pearson appeared before the Senate's five percent inquiry into persons who claim they know the right people, and hence can get business government contracts.

He said that Burton is a friend of a friend of Vaughan's.

Pearson identified Burton's friend as William Heils. Heils, the committee had been told previously, is a New Orleans friend of Vaughan's who raises horses for race tracks and money for Democratic campaign funds.

Tried Twice

The columnist said Burton had been tried twice on income tax fraud charges, and on both occasions the jury failed to agree.

He went on to testify that Burton was subsequently indicted and convicted of a charge of jury bribing.

"There was a lot of maneuvering to prevent his conviction," Pearson said.

He said he learned of Vaughan's purported interest in the case from James P. McGranery, now U. S. judge for the eastern district of Pennsylvania. At the time, 1946, McGranery was the assistant to the then Attorney General, Tom Clark.

(At Philadelphia Judge McGranery's office said he was not in court today and could not be reached immediately for comment.)

Hearing Is Recused

To other questions, Mr. Truman said the hearing was held on Capitol Hill, and that it would not be continued up here (meaning the White House).

A reporter asked whether he thought Vaughan had got a "fair deal" from the committee.

Mr. Truman declined comment. Although the committee has dismissed Vaughan as a witness, Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said it is "just getting started" in its inquiry about him.

McCarthy, talking with reporters in advance of the president's news conference, also said that for Mr. Truman to keep Vaughan as his military aide would amount to endorsing not only the "new deal" and the "fair deal" but also "all of Harry Vaughan's deals."

Vaughan himself—won't be seen around that one former White House figure—John Maragon—won't be seen around there in the future.

Need To Be "Washed Up"

Vaughan said yesterday that Maragon needs to be "washed up, fumigated."

A reporter told Mr. Truman that Vaughan had said Maragon was his "lovable" friend, but ought to be "fumigated" before he re-enters the White House.

The reporter wanted to know what the President thought about that.

It was then that Mr. Truman asserted that the committee hearing was being held at the Capitol and it would not be continued at the White House.

The word that Vaughan would stay on as the president's aide came when a reporter asked Mr. Truman if he contemplated any change in army aides.

The president said: I do not, Vaughan, in be-ribboned summer uniform, was standing behind the president at the meeting with reporters.

"Hearing at Capitol"

One question put to Mr. Truman was whether he had barred Maragon from the White House.

The president replied to it by again saying that the hearings were being held at the Capitol.

78 Dead, 364 Injured In Japanese Typhoon

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 2—(AP)—The toll of the Tokyo area's typhoon, and its companion, flood, reached 78 dead and 364 injured today.

Heavy rain fell in the populous Tokyo-Yokohama region. This not only increased the misery of typhoon victims but heightened the threat of additional floods.

In Tokyo alone, relief agencies took care of 49,000 Japanese whose homes either were smashed or damaged by the typhoon or were menaced by the floods.

Answer Filed To Suit by Okee L. Rice

Action as Move To Set Temporary Injunction Aside

A separate answer to an injunction suit August 23 by Rice Leghorn Farms, Inc., against Okee L. Rice and Willie Kreiser was filed in circuit court Thursday afternoon as a preliminary move to a motion to set aside a temporary injunction.

The answer filed by Okee L. Rice, the defendant, consists of denials of allegations in the injunction suit and asks the court to dismiss the plaintiff's petition.

Rice denies that he or his wife ever transferred, sold or assigned to the plaintiff any title or property rights to customer cards mentioned in the original injunction suit; asserts that the plaintiff now has use of this customer list although this list is the personal property of himself and his wife and they are entitled to possession thereof. Similar statements are made concerning ownership of a list of flock owners of which Rice contends rightful ownership.

In spite of this ownership claim, Rice states that he returned cards and filing cases and flock owners lists to the plaintiff solely as a compliance of an order of court in the injunction cause and for no other purpose.

Denials Are Made

Rice in his answer admits that he did resign as president of Rice Leghorn Farm, Inc., about March 3, 1949 but denies that said resignation as president was at a meeting of R. F. C. officials, and denies that said resignation was voluntary on his part and, on the contrary, affirmatively alleges that his said resignation as president was brought about and induced by false and unfounded representations made to him by William M. Houston "who then and there falsely and fraudulently represented unto Rice that the R. F. C. required his resignation before it would make Rice Farm Inc., certain loans, the falsity of which said representations so made by Houston, Rice did not then and there know, and that defendant further admits that on or about the 18th day of July, to become effective as of July 31, 1949, Rice did resign as vice-president and now denies that his resignation as vice-president was at the instance or request of the R. F. C., but, on the contrary, affirmatively alleges that his resignation was brought about and procured as the result of false and fraudulent representations made to him by William C. Houston to the effect that the managing officers of R. F. C. demanded and required his resignation as vice-president which representations so made to Rice by Houston was then and there false and to him known to be false and made unto Rice as part of a scheme to displace Rice as one of the Rice Leghorn Farm Inc. officers."

Rice's attorneys are William F. Brown and Fred F. Wesner.

Threaten Life Of Preston Tucker

CHICAGO, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times said today that Preston Tucker, head of the Tucker Corp., had reported receiving threats against his life.

Tucker reported that the threats were relayed to him through a former official of the rear-engine automobile company, the Sun-Times said. This official attributed the threats to members of the Capone syndicate who lost large sums of money on franchises for the proposed automobile, the newspaper said.

The Sun-Times said Tucker reported his life had been threatened after a prowler was seen tampering with a ninth floor window leading to Tucker's Lake Shore Drive apartment.

Tucker was not available for comment.

The Tucker corporation, now undergoing reorganization, never got into production. Tucker and a number of former officials of the company are under indictment on mail fraud and conspiracy charges.

Vatican Rules Against Group Of Catholics

Who Contend There Is No Salvation Outside The Church

BOSTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—Archbishop Richard J. Cushing announced tonight the Vatican has ruled against a group of Boston Catholics who contend there is no salvation outside the Catholic church.

Headed by a Catholic priest, they have carried on a bitter public dispute with the Boston hierarchy over the issue for the past five months.

The prelate made the decision public in "The Pilot," official publication of the Boston archdiocese. Neither the archbishop or any other authority would make any additional comment.

Council Ruled

Archbishop Cushing, in The Pilot, said the decision was made by the supreme sacred congregation of the Holy office, over which the Pope presides. The congregation met in plenary session July 27, the announcement said, and sent the ruling to Archbishop Cushing through the Most Rev. Amleto G. Cicognani, apostolic delegate in Washington.

The dissident group, headed by the Rev. Leonard J. Feeney, S. J., meet in Cambridge under the name St. Benedict's Center. has been under interdict—banned to Catholics—and Fr. Feeney has been without his priestly privileges.

Inconsistent Teachings

Pointing out that the teachings of St. Benedict's Center are inconsistent with the pronouncements of Pope Pius XII, the sacred congregation declared:

"x x x It is clear that the doctrine presented x x x as genuine Catholic teaching is far from being such, and can do nothing but grave harm both to those who are in the church and to those outside it."

The Vatican communication sharply censured Fr. Feeney for his part in the disagreement. On several occasions, the Jesuit priest vigorously criticized archdiocesan leaders including Archbishop Cushing and the Most Rev. John J. Wright, auxiliary bishop.

Held In Killing Over A Woman

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 1—(AP)—Police arrested Charles A. Greene, charged with murder at Tacoma, Wash., as Greene lay sleeping today in an apartment at nearby Gresham.

Detective Leonard Shaffer said state and Portland police walked through an unlocked door and found Greene asleep. He offered no resistance when awakened. In an oral statement he admitted killing Robert Lee Aubry in a Tacoma tavern last night, Shaffer said.

The detective added that Greene said, in the statement made to him and to state patrolman Robert H. Wampler, that he shot Aubry in an argument over Greene's wife.

A pistol, which Shaffer said was used in the killing, was found in the Freshman apartment.

Shaffer said local police went there on a tip from Tacoma police. The apartment is occupied by a relative of Greene's, he said.

At the Portland police station Greene waived extradition.

Greene, 23-year-old, paroled convict formerly of St. Louis, Mo., was charged with murder after witnesses named him as the gun wielder, Det. Capt. Larry Admanson said at Tacoma.

Officials Forced Back on Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Matthews and a party of high officials landed safely at Moffett field near here, early today after being forced back from a flight to Honolulu by engine trouble.

The secretary and several high ranking navy officials were en route to the Hawaiian islands to dedicate a new national cemetery.

Traveling in Secretary Matthews' private plane, the party took off from Moffett field at 1:38 a. m. (EST) today.

Six hundred miles at sea one engine on the four-engine plane quit. The pilot, whose name was not available, radioed that he was turning back.

Air-sea rescue service from Hamilton field dispatched a C-47 rescue plane to escort the crippled plane back to land. Both arrived safely.

Officials at Moffett field said Secretary Matthews' plane would take off again tonight for Honolulu.

In addition to Matthews, the Navy said at Washington, the party included:

Capt. R. W. Ruble, aide to the secretary, and Mrs. Matthews and Margaret Matthews, their daughter, Mrs. Phoebe McCarthy, personal secretary to Matthews.

Clings to Well Side Saving Son

GEORGES MILLS, N. H., Sept. 1—(AP)—A young mother clung to the side of a 40-foot abandoned well today, clutching her two-year-old son until rescuers hauled them to safety.

Mrs. Earl Dumont rushed to the well when informed by Mervin Mason, 12, a neighbor, that the child had fallen through an 18-inch opening in the well cover.

The mother removed her clothing, in order to squeeze through the narrow opening, and reached the baby.

Unable to climb up again, she told the Mason boy to run a mile and a half to the village for help.

The baby's father arrived about the same time as firemen and helped pull the pair to safety.

The Lindleys have been occupying their summer home for the past eight weeks at Pelican lake in Minnesota. This being the nineteenth summer they have spent on this beautiful lake.

They passed through Sedalia after leaving the daughter at Kansas City and are going on to Princeton to get things in order, in time to become Sedalians in earnest.

The Congregational-Presbyterian church recently purchased the house at 814 West Fifth street as a manse, which will be occupied by the minister on or about the twelfth of September.

Minister Amazed By Calls on Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 1—(AP)—Baptist Minister Thomas R. Byford is a patient man, even when he is continually mistaken for a bootlegger.

It seems that customers of Harold Byford, convicted Oklahoma City bootlegger, mistakingly call the minister when they get low on spirits in this constitutionally dry state.

Night and day, for months, the slightly tipsy have been phoning for delivery service.

Police Recover Body From Missouri River

Two policemen recovered the body by boat.

One Killed In Riot In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Sept. 1—(AP)—At least one person was killed and four others wounded when police opened fire tonight on crowds of rioting natives in Johannesburg streets.

The battle followed a day of native passive resistance to a city council decision to raise fares two to three pence on streetcars set aside for non-Europeans.

World Plunged Into War Ten Years Ago by Hitler

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—It is ten years ago today since Adolf Hitler plunged the world into its first trillion-dollar war.

No paperhanger in history ever messed up a place more.

Remember? Millions of people heard the broadcast of the fateful speech to the reichstag in which Hitler told the German people their troops had marched into Poland.

It gave a shivery feeling. The fiery emotionalism of the little man seeped through his alien tongue into the hearts of listeners in many lands. The hall in which he spoke was hung with scarlet banners, for red is the color of war. And the hall shook with bursts of massed applause—as if led by invisible cheerleaders. It was like something out of the Middle Ages.

Exactly 2,074 days later the returns from Adolf's speech were in.

His reich and many other countries were in ruins. Some 22,060,000 men, women and children had been killed, including Fuehrer Hitler and his arch-buddy, Benito Mussolini, who ended the war hanging by his heels beside his mistress, dead and bleeding. Some 34,400,000 had been wounded.

It was the biggest jackpot of all time for Brother Mars. He had rung up $116,991,463,084 on his cash register and about $230,900,000,000 in property damage. This doesn't even include the cost

Call For Vaughan Resignation

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 1—(AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) today called for the resignation of Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan as President Truman's military aide.

Keating issued a statement prepared before the president announced in Washington that he would keep Vaughan as his aide.

Keating, a veteran of both world wars, is a co-sponsor with Sen. Mundt (D-Sdak) of a bill to regulate the activities of the five percenters.

"If General Vaughan is going to engage even in the activities he has admitted," Keating declared, "at least he ought to take off his uniform."

Race Pilots Really Hot

414.5 MPH Speed Leads Qualifiers In National Races

By James J. Sirebig

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1—(AP)—Race pilots burned up the course and a couple of airplanes today in the final burst of qualifying flights for the National Air Races which begin Saturday. No one was injured in three forced landings.

Dick Becker, Toledo, Ohio, topped the qualifiers with an average of 414.5 miles an hour for two laps around a seven-mile course. But his engine caught fire and he made a quick sidestep on the grass.

Inspection several hours later indicated the big F2G Corsair may be out of the races because of damaged gears in the propeller housing.

Crash Landed

Lt. Jack Becker, 28, of Jacksonville, Fla., a Navy fighter pilot on leave, crash-landed in flames after completing one lap in a Lockheed F-38 Lightning engine by Albert T. Whiteside of Jacksonville.

Charles Burton, 23, of Laurens, S. C., got his midsize racer down safely after the cockpit canopy flew off and tore some holes in the fabric covering of his plane.

Eighteen planes completed qualifying flights in the open class for three races totaling $55,000 in purses. The top ten will start in the Thompson trophy event Labor Day with a $16,000 first prize.

Ranking behind Dick Becker was Cook Cleland of Cleveland with an average of 407.2 MPH in a Corsair. Cleland owns both planes.

Sets Fires So He Can Be A Hero

NEW CASTLE, Ky., Sept. 1—(AP)—A 28-year-old farm handyman who, according to authorities, admitted setting 17 fires in central Kentucky, was quoted today as saying that he "played hero" at almost every one of them.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Sam T. Buford, Jr., said the man, Jesse West, Smithfield, told him, "I got a big kick out of it. I used delayed action fuses that I got when I was in the army, in the infantry. I'd take the bullet out of a '22 shell and fasten the fuse to it, then light the fuse."

"That would give me plenty of time to get away to a good place which I could watch."

"When it was burning good, I would come running in and save people, horses, poultry, anything I could. I got quite a reputation."

West was held to the Henry county grand jury here today on an arson charge.

Double Funeral After Two Deaths

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1—(AP)—Seven-year-old Harvey Greiser was struck and killed by a truck today.

Police went to a nearby funeral parlor to notify his mother, Mrs. Rosalie Gibson.

Mrs. Gibson was with the body of her other child, Mary Lee Greiser, 4, Mary Lee drowned a few days ago when she fell from a Rock creek pier while fishing with Harvey.

A double funeral was arranged.

Five Day Week In Effect on The Railways

Is Applicable to Near Million of Rail Workers

By Norman Walker

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—The five-day week most other American wage-earners have enjoyed for years went into effect today for nearly a million railroad workers.

It is a revolutionary change for the rail industry, which must continue keeping the trains running day in and day out every day without a halt.

The reduction from a six-day week, effective last midnight was a long time coming for the million non-operating workers who service and maintain the trains.

Under terms of an agreement worked out between the rail unions and carriers—based on recommendations made by a presidential board last December—these workers will get the same pay for the shorter week that they got for working six days.

William M. Leiserson, chairman of the presidential board, said however that the new five-day week rates will be about the same as the average for factory workers for comparable skills.

The trains are expected to keep their present schedules. The several hundred thousand operating workers, such as engineers and firemen, are not affected by the change. They are paid on a mileage basis.

Cut To Make Saving

The railroads, given an eight-month notice of the new work week, began in advance to cut corners to save money. For instance, they closed many freight stations and offices on Saturdays. And many jobs are being mechanized.

Economies already put into effect, or in the process of being made, are designed to hold to a minimum any required additions to the railroad working force.

The carriers at one time estimated they would have to hire 200,000 and 300,000 extra men. Now the unions estimate the number will be 100,000 or less.

Might Change Mail Service

The change-over has concerned the Postoffice Department to the extent that it has said it may have to move more mail by air and truck, particularly on weekends when most of the non-operating workers will have their two days off.

But the department is waiting to see how the new arrangement works out.

As to costs, the presidential board estimated the shorter week would mean an initial $380,000,000 annual payroll cost. William T. Farley, president of the Association of American Railroads, figured it at $450,000,000.

The railroads get a four percent freight rate boost, worth $293,000,000 in added revenue, effective today to help defray costs of the change. Farley said recently the carriers will "try to get along" without asking for a further increase.

One worry in many small towns without regular telegraph offices is that the railroad telegraph operator, who handles their private messages, won't be on duty Saturdays. Such operators have been off on Sundays right along.

The reason the 40-hour week has been so long coming to the rail industry is that rail workers were exempted from the wage-hour law adopted in 1938. That law established the five-day week for most other wage-earners.

Young Woman Tries Robbery

DALLAS, Sept. 1—(AP)—A slight, neatly dressed young blonde woman attempted to rob the Dallas National Bank today by threatening a teller with a hand-written note.

She fled when the teller slammed the cage window down. Officials of the bank said the woman, "about 20 to 25," quietly appeared before teller Eddie H. Meisch's cage and shoved a note into Meisch.

"Your life depends on your actions in the next few minutes," the note read. It asked money in $10, $20, $50, and $100 bills. It was signed "the bandit."

Meisch said a handkerchief in one of the woman's hands covered what could have been a gun. The teller made a motion toward opening the cash drawer, then suddenly slammed the cage window and stepped back.

The frail woman walked quickly out of the bank and was lost in the downtown crowds.

"We never did find out just how much money she wanted," a bank official said.

Barn Set Afire By Lightning

Building, Horse And Feed Were Destroyed

A bolt of lightning struck the side of a large barn on the F. B. Muschane farm, about 9 miles southeast of Sedalia, Saturday afternoon, causing an inferno of flames, which crept through the barn, dragging it and all contents to the ground.

The barn was full of this season's hay, in addition to corn, oats and harnes. A horse, surrounded in the flames, was burned to death.

At the time the lightning hit the barn, which was about 2:00 p. m., Mr. Muschane and his brother, Earl, were a distance from the barn, having just completed loading their wagon with the last load of hay, to bring to the barn. Mrs. Muschane was not at home when the lightning struck.

The Muschane farm is located two miles southwest of Smithton. The flames which leaped thirty feet into the sky, were visible at Smithton, and many people gathered at the farm to render every aid possible in combating the blaze and to save a garage and smoke-house, close by.

The barn was located about 200 feet from the house.

Sedalians In Logistical Study

The 5058th Logistical Division, Central Missouri's contribution to the Department of the Army's newest organization development, went into its first field training session, August 26, at Fort Leonard Wood.

The logistical division is the answer to a weakness that developed in World War II. Under the new set-up all technical and administrative services are combined into a single unit, a nucleus around which a balanced service force can be built and trained to support a specified operation.

An intensive four day study of logistical problems will be made at Fort Leonard Wood by 76 officers assigned to the 5058th from Sedalia Jefferson City, Columbia, Moberly, Booneville, Mexico and Marshall. Those assigned from Sedalia area are: Col. James S. Norlin, Lt. Col. Glenn A. Walker, Major John B. Ellison, Jr., Major Michael Giokaris, Major Hardin E. Gouge, Major Russell H. Miller, of Green Ridge; Capt. Alan R. Tawse, Capt. A. K. Downs, First Lieut. William N. Jonson, First Lieut. Ralph E. Lee, and Major John G. Crawford.

In Command Of 9,000 at Guards Camp

Gen. John C. McLaughlin, Sedalia, Has Major Task

There's a Sedalia man with almost 9,000 "children," but his fatherhood is lasting for only two weeks, as the matter hasn't quite received the widespread attention it otherwise would. The gentleman is Maj. Gen. John C. McLaughlin of 312 West Sixth street, commanding general of the 35th Division, Missouri-Kansas National Guard now in summer encampment at Fort Leonard Wood.

Even the worries of a father seem rather mild when they are contrasted with Gen. McLaughlin's job at hand—supervising the field training of a group which includes 3 infantry regiments, an engineer battalion, medical battalion, engineer treadway bridge company, engineer aviation company, cavalry battalion, a field artillery group and four battalions, and numerous supply and staff groups.

Although efficient subordinates handle the various sections, the worries and responsibilities fall mostly on the shoulder of Gen. McLaughlin. A good staff of officers can make a big difference, though. "I am extremely fortunate to have able hard-working officers with combat experience," General McLaughlin said yesterday.

Officers From Ranks

It is primarily due to the ability of these men as well as to the willingness of the men in the ranks that the training has thus far proceeded at a clip fast enough to amaze observers. Gen. McLaughlin has made it a definite policy in the 35th to bring up as many officers as possible from the ranks.

Gen. McLaughlin first entered the Guard as an enlisted man in a unit now at camp—Battery F of the 128th Field Artillery Battalion, which he joined October 1, 1924. His Chief of Staff, Col. Lawrence L. Heinlein, of Kansas City, also came up from the ranks to his present position.

The General was obviously very pleased at the way the training has gone so far. "Many of the men who joined the Guard last year primarily to escape the draft have now been discharged for one reason or another, and the men left are those who are really interested in the methods of the Guard. I am extremely proud and happy of the way the training has been carried on."

Lack Major Accidents

One top feature of the camp has been the complete lack of major accidents which sometimes haunt undertakings of this kind. The safety and speed of the various units' movement to camp last week speaks well for the efficient planning of Gen. McLaughlin and his staff.

The General, a Colonel in the last war commanding the 17th Field Artillery Group in Europe and North Africa, speaks highly of the facilities at Fort Leonard Wood. The camp, which was primarily an engineer replacement training center during the war, is described as an "excellent training area" by Gen. McLaughlin.

Well Equipped Camp

All that was necessary was for the troops to move to the barracks, unload, and begin training. Such evils as "Tent Cities, etc." were unnecessary. The camp is still well-equipped with leftovers from previous training. For example, the 138th Infantry Regiment from St. Louis was going through tactical training in a field camp the other day, using tactics to meet whatever terrain was encountered. Suddenly, they came across a group of dummy mines left in the area since the last Regular Army trainees pulled out. This hadn't been foreseen, but the mines provided added training (and often quite a surprise) for the Guardsmen.

Gen. McLaughlin's division, as all other National Guard units, is handicapped by time—having only two hours per week and two weeks each summer, but they can teach the men the primary lessons of warfare.

"The current three-year, progressive program of training is the most realistic National Guard training program I have ever seen," the General said. "We haven't time to teach them everything about fighting, but in case of an emergency, we'll be ready."

The Smith-Cotton Tiger football team, Central Missouri Conference champions, will open their fall practice sessions September 1, at 9:30 in the morning, in preparation for their first game with Marshall, here, on Thursday, September 15.

Other Squad Members

Other members of the squad will be: Bill Arnold, 45-pound quarterback, Harvey Simons, 165-pound center, Leon Nold, 165-pound center, Leo Eickhoff, 155-pound end, Bill Wheeler, 165-pound tackle, Joe Bohanan, 225-pound guard, Stanley Walsh, 145-pound tackle, Jim Dent, 120-pound end, Floyd Burton, 145-pound halfback, and Don Alcorn, 165-pound tackle.

Coach Dow has expressed plans to have two daily workouts for the first three days. In the morning, the team will practice running and passing, and in the afternoon blocking and calisthenics.

Good Signs Shown

Although conference observers do not expect Smith-Cotton to repeat its running away of last year's race, because of the loss of seven lettermen, some of the boys who plan to be on the team and who have been practicing on their own, have shown good signs of getting in shape and believe with plenty of hard work and practice their chances for a successful season are as good as in years before.

The following is a schedule of Smith-Cotton's games which includes two open dates:

in money and damage of the long war in China, which is still in flower.

The United States picked up the biggest part of the check—$330,030,463.084 — and it is still picking up the checks.

What does it all add up to?

Well, the Germans are still sorting bricks from the rubble of their cities and will be for years. They are bystanders now. But the chief issue raised by Hitler is still undecided—freedom or tyranny, the oldest issue on earth and never settled.

More People Than Ever

War didn't even dent the global so well as a good long plague. It is a tremendous tribute to the imperishable vitality and optimism of the human race that it has gone on having children like mad. There are some 2,300,000,000 people in the world, more than ever. And some 150,000,000 dwell in America — more than ever.

Here more people are eating higher on the hog, living better, earning more, than at any period in our story. And America is still a little startled at the realization it has replaced the British empire as the biggest single factor for world order. That carries the privileges of greater responsibility — and, inevitably, higher taxes. That is the price of being the big brother.

What did the war teach us? Well, chiefly, it taught us a sense of geography — and that's important. Places like Bastogne, Kasserine Gap, Tokyo, Paris, London, Liege and Berlin don't seem so strange and far now. Millions came home with memories of what people are like and how they live in foreign places.

There is a steel skyscraper growing up now beside Manhattan's East river the first building in the United Nations new home. The problem is no longer whether any particular nation can get along in the world, but whether all nations can get along in the world together.

Whether they do or not. It is doubtful whether war in itself, even in the radio-active atomic age, can alone destroy anything so durable and stubborn as mankind.

For nothing yet has ever been able to keep people from having hope — and children.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The new Legion commander, George N. Craig, turned his 40th birthday on August 6. His military record dates to 1932 when he entered the Army Reserve Corps. On March 12, 1942, he was called to active duty and became an infantry officer in the third Army under Gen. George S. Patton Jr.

Craig rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel in the 80th infantry division and was retired on January 17, 1946.

His first Legion office was that of commander of Clay County Post No. 2 at Brazil, Ind., then, in rapid succession, he became southern vice-commander of the department of Indiana and National committee member from his home state.

As the Indiana committeeman, Craig held a key post in the Legion's rehabilitation commission, to which he served as liaison officer. In that commission, Craig led the Legion battle for passage of housing and hospital programs for veterans.

He was a leader in the Legion self-help plan under which towns and cities are urged to take the initial step to bring in new jobs, industries and housing.

Craig is married and the father of one son.

V. Brown in Kiwanis Talk

Area Supervisor On Employment Explains Activities

Three primary functions of the Division of Employment Security were explained by Virgil Brown, area supervisor, in a talk before the Sedalia Kiwanis club Thursday noon in Bothwell Hotel.

The division is designed to bring together jobs and men, the speaker said. The primary functions consist of employment service, administration of unemployment compensation, and administration of the service men's readjustment act. He explained the process of giving aptitude tests and occupational counseling, analysis of employment trends, and many other activities of the division.

On Incline Here

Mr. Brown commented on the national unemployment trend compared to the reverse situation in Sedalia. Here employment has been in the incline despite factory and shop layoffs. Indications are that this situation has been a favorable one for the Sedalia area because men layed off in industry have been absorbed in the fields of agriculture and construction.

Clinton Muller was program chairman.

Jack Cunningham and T. H. Yount explained activities of the Sedalia Athletic Association during the baseball season just closed and plans the first Amateur Golf Tournament September 19, and prospects for sponsoring football and Golden Gloves events later.

E. W. McClammer, of the Vitaglas company, became a new member of the club, introduced by Kenzie Miller and inducted by the Rev. H. U. Campbell.

President Bert Hathaway announced there would be a meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen at Dan's Restaurant Friday noon.

Guests were: Jack Allgaier, with his father A. B. Allgaier; Joe Rosenthal, Kansas City; Kiwanian Myron Lundquist, Mexico; A. S. Mathis, Tulsa, with Clyde Heynen and E. R. Peterson, Wichita, Kas., with Ray Hunt.

Reade said he would distribute credit books to anyone showing a social security card and a driver's license.

"No checkups, co-signers or charges will be asked," he said. "Nor will patrons be billed; they will be trusted to pay what they owe within a reasonable time."

Each of the credit books contain 40 tickets. Reade said his organization will advance the 20 percent federal tax on each admission.

County Jail Escapee Caught

Charles "Bud" Jamison, Negro who escaped from the Pettis county jail last Saturday evening while doing chores around the jail as a trustee, was captured about 10:30 o'clock Thursday night at his home 706 West Cooper street. Jamison offered no resistance.

Clark Woolery, deputy sheriff at the jail, received a tip Jamison was at the address and solicited the aid of "Butch" Yeager a taxi cab driver and Police Officers Sam Lutjen, William Hatfield, James Sizemore and Joe Steffen, all who were at the place when Jamison was captured.

Woolery went to the front door and called out asking if the Negro was in the house. He was told "upstairs." Woolery then called up to Jamison to come out and he did within a few minutes. He was handcuffed and returned to the county jail.

Jamison is serving a jail sentence of 120 days for stealing corn from Ralph Dow at Georgetown.

Bees Buzz Busily In Belshe Home

TRENTON, Mo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Vivian Belshe home near here is a beehive of activity.

While everyone else was battling the heat through the past five summers the Belshes had another problem — bees.

There are three swarms of buzzing bees that have set up housekeeping and honey-making operations in combs located between the sidings and weatherboarding of the frame house.

Once each year the bees swarm and on that day the Belshe family closes all windows and doors and remains indoors to keep out of the path of the insects.

To date the Belshes have been unable to find anyone who will take the bees and their factory.

GAR Cronies Broke up For The Last Time

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Grand Army of the Republic broke up for the last time today.

There was a final clasp of shaking old hands last night, a Godspeed from their commander and a prayer.

Today six old veterans are scattering to the four winds, never to meet again, at least in formal encampment. They signed and sealed the decision in their only business session yesterday.

Then for more than an hour veterans of later—but no more colorful—wars marched behind the separate cars in which the six tired old soldiers rode in a twilight parade. Almost 100,000 thronged the curbs along the 12-block route, cheering the aged men in their last blaze of martial glory.

Bands and fifers brought back the almost-dead memories of '65 with "The Battle Cry of Freedom" and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching."

Theodore A. Penland, 100, Vancouver, Wash., waved happily from the back of an automobile seat all along the parade route. At the last "campfire," he bravely sang "Fighting on the Old Campground."

Penland proudly received a diamond-studded Past Commander's badge, though he'll now be commander for life. The badge recognizes his service for the past year.

The GAR now becomes a scattering of 16 members and a collection of historic mementoes.

Until the last member dies and the GAR is at last disbanded by the U. S. supreme court, the relics will be in charge of peppery, gray-haired Cora E. Gillis, GAR secretary.

After the disbanding, the last records go to the congressional library. Flags, badges and the seal go to the Smithsonian Institution.

Enter Milwaukee For Air Academy

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The American Legion's 31st national convention today approved Wisconsin's bid for a national air academy at Milwaukee.

The proposal of the Wisconsin department was not acted upon as a formal resolution but was approved by the convention resolutions commission and referred back to the Wisconsin department.

Legionnaires from that state were advised to ask Wisconsin congressmen to introduce a measure proposing the air academy.

John J. Scott, commander of Milwaukee's Cudworth post which sponsored the resolution, said Milwaukee would be "an ideal place" for a national air academy, and that it has "wonderful weather conditions" with an annual temperature range of 100 degrees.

The plan calls for a service school similar to the army's West Point and navy Annapolis.

Break Comes in Polio Epidemic

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The approach of autumn has brought the first break in the nation's polio epidemic, the public health service said today.

For the first time since last March, the agency said, the count of new cases has declined.

It dropped from 3,422 for the week ending August 20 to 3,214 for the week ending August 27. In the corresponding week a year ago the total was 1,412.

Last week the health service said the 22-week rise in the number of poliomyelitis cases appeared to be leveling off. It now says last week's 3,422 total may be the year's peak.

The total number of cases reported in the nation for the year, through August 27, is 20,533, compared with 11,155 for the same period last year.

Ten states reported more than 100 new cases last week. They were New York, 573; Michigan, 282; Illinois, 276; Massachusetts, 194; Minnesota, 183; Ohio, 123; New Jersey, 122; Missouri, 116; Iowa, 102; and California, 101.

The weekly report is based on telegraphic information from state health departments.

Knot Tighter Than Couple Intended

DALLAS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—City fireman Bill Wheelless and his bride, the former Miss Ruth Adams, tied the knot tighter than they intended.

Wheelless heard the boys intended to stage an old fashioned charivari. He borrowed handcuffs from a friend in the police department and snapped them on him.

After the ceremony, the strategy worked fine until the wedding reception was almost over and the couple was ready to leave on their honeymoon. In the excitement Wheelless lost the key to the handcuffs.

The first honeymoon stop was at the police station to get the handcuffs unlocked.

"Believe me this is one tie that binds," said Mr. Wheelless.

B-36 Probe Fasco Proves To be Expensive Faux Pas

By Bruce Blossat

In the B-36 bomber inquiry you could see Washingtonitis at its worst.

For two weeks the House Armed Services Committee delved diligently into a welter of charges that favoritism, influence and perhaps even corruption marked the procurement of the nation's mainstay long range bomber.

Top officials of the Army Air Forces, the aircraft corporations and other organizations associated with B-36 purchases trooped patiently before the committee and told in detail the story of the B-36's origins and development.

This whole process was tremendously costly
both in taxpayers' money and in the valuable time of lawmakers, government officials and business leaders.

In the end, the committee concluded decisively that there was not a single iota of evidence to support the charges. On the contrary it found "there has been very substantial and very compelling evidence that the Air Force selected this bomber solely on grounds that it is the best aircraft for its purpose available
to this nation today."

The investigation actually was a colossal waste. For one Cedric Worth, a civilian Navy official, confessed to the committee that he had written the document on which the inquiry was based and that his charges had no foundation
in fact.

The committee is now trying to find out whether Worth had help from other Navy officials. Because it is plain that the inspiration for his flimsy charges is the bitter fight between the Navy and the Air Force over their respective roles in a future war.

That Worth's document was snapped up so readily by Representative Van Zandt of Pennsylvania and relayed to Congress and the public does not reflect on Van Zandt's critical approach to the job of separating fact and rumor.
It suggests that his status as a naval reserve officer was a bigger factor than any other.

The ill-founded rumor and the false charge
we have always had with us and probably always will. Basically, there is nothing any more surprising in this fuss than there is in the current tempest over "five percenters" and the influence game. In other words, there is no surprise at all.

But it does seem incredible that a lawmaker would touch off such a costly inquiry with so little evidence to go on. And the committee seems certainly could have been more insistent in learning the source and likely merit of the charges before proceeding with a full investigation.

Van Zandt and all others who failed to sift
the charges more carefully at the start now stand repudiated by Worth's own testimony that he was filling blanks. They ought to feel pretty sheepish about the whole affair.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Brazilian-U. S. Relations Are Strained Over Excess Loan South Americans Don't Want

By Robert S. Allen

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 — British-American differences aren't the only strained relations
worrying the state department.

Behind the scenes, a trouble-breeding situation has developed with Brazil, our traditional South American ally.

Cause of the disturbing dispute is a loan —
with reverse English.

The Brazilians don't want the loan.

They hotly charge that the Export-Import bank is trying to "blackjack" them into taking a $200,000,000 loan they don't want.

This is the Brazilians' story:

Brazil owes several hundred million dollars to U. S. firms and banks for purchases of equipment and other supplies in the past year.
It is conceded payments have been slow. The Brazilians explain this is due to an acute dollar shortage, as a result of a very heavy decrease in exports to the U. S.

The Brazilians say that if they can get a $40,000,000 loan to develop the vast, untapped resources of Minas Geraes, they can quickly expand their economy to meet their commercial debts. Also, that such a loan fits in squarely with President Truman's "Point Four" program.

But the Export-Import bank is refusing to consider this proposal until Brazil agrees to take the $200,000,000 loan.

In Rio de Janeiro, this has led to bitter feeling. Cries of "Yankee imperialism," "dollar diplomacy" and "Uncle Shylock" have been tossed around. In Washington, Ambassador Nabuco is more polite and discreet. But no ones are being made of the contention that a group of New York bankers and export firms are behind the insistence on the big loan.

Specifically, it is claimed that the Commerce and Industry Association of New York has pressured the Export-Import bank into demanding that Brazil sign up for the $200,000,000 in order to pay off its commercial debts.

The Brazilians are hinting President Dutra
may take the issue directly to President Truman.

Note — Minas Geraes means "General Mines"
or "abundant minerals." The state is the richest in Brazil; also the most powerful politically, owing to its great wealth. The proposed development loan has been under consideration for some time. Elaborate scientific and economic studies have been submitted and a special envoy, Dr. Barbosa Mello, was sent to Washington to work with Ambassador Nabuco to negotiate
the loan.

Adding fuel to the situation is the fact that Milton Campos, governor of Minas Geraes, is a strong possibility as Dutra's successor next year. Campos is wroth over what he considers deliberate U. S. refusal to aid the development of his state.

Peace, It's Wonderful

An intriguing little drama went practically unnoticed at the opening banquet of the American Legion convention in Philadelphia.

Two old foes of the Roosevelt cabinet embraced and made up.

They are defense secretary Louis Johnson
and former secretary of war Henry Woodring.
Johnson was Woodring's assistant secretary,
and the two men differed hotly on rearmament and intervention in the war. Johnson favored both. Woodring, a Kansan, was opposed. Woodring was dropped first, Johnson later, on the insistence of secretary of war Henry Stimson, who demanded his own associates.

After Johnson's appointment as defense secretary, newsmen, recalling the Woodring feud, asked the latter for a statement. The reporters expected a blast. Instead, Woodring warmly commended his old rival and expressed the opinion he would do an outstanding job.

At the Legion banquet, Johnson, sitting at the head table, spotted Woodring on the floor. Rising, Johnson went to Woodring and greeted him warmly. Later, when Woodring left, he walked up to Johnson and bade him a cordial goodbye.

Whining for Husband's Praise Is Trail of Unhappy Wives

Most unhappy wives seem to have one thing in common. They have husbands who don't "appreciate all they do," who don't seem to realize how hard they work,
who are stingy with their compliments.

It's not the hard work these wives seem to mind so much.
They're unhappy because they don't know how to get their husbands to show some appreciation for what they do.

It would be a fine thing if all husbands were appreciative of their wives' work and all of them took the trouble to show it. But since it's easier for a woman to change her own attitude than it is for her to try to change her husband's, it seems to me these unhappy wives are overlooking the simplest solution to their problem.

Why don't they just stop expecting appreciation and worrying
when it isn't forthcoming?

After all, a housewife can get along without appreciation the same as any other woman can do without it in her job.

It's a rare employer who keeps praising his secretary for how neatly she types his letters or tells her she's a genius because she can find the things she files

for him.

Working Girls Don't Hunt Praise

Yet that doesn't seem to bother
the average secretary. As long as she holds her job and gets her pay check, she figures that is proof enough that she is doing her job satisfactorily.

Unhappy wives could well adopt the same attitude. Perhaps Henry doesn't seem impressed with how hard his wife works and doesn't keep telling her how smart a manager she is. But if he hasn't strayed off the reservation and is still footing the bills, he must be reasonably satisfied with the woman he married.

And if his wife prefers to think of herself as her own boss, rather than as a woman working for a man, she has even less need of praise from the man she married.

She's creating a home and the job itself should give her a very real satisfaction. If a woman knows she is doing a good job,
she shouldn't have to be told so over and over—even by a husband.

Women Should Remain Active During Period of Adjustment

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The menopause, or change of life, usually begins around the age of 45 and takes several years before the adjustment is complete.

Most women pass through it without either physical or mental disturbances of any serious nature.

The menopause is more than the discontinuation of one physiological function. Actually it represents the development of a new balance between the various internal glands which is caused by gradual stopping of the functions of the reproductive organs.

The most obvious reflection of these changes is the cessation of the menses and the impossibility of further reproduction. Neither of these need produce any concern
in the great majority of women;
nature has provided these changes
for reasons which seem desirable both for the individual woman and for the human race as a whole.

Typical Symptoms

When symptoms do develop, the most common are hot flashes, abnormal menses, a tendency to melancholy, putting on weight, headaches and sleeplessness. Glandular products are now available which can be given by injection or by mouth which will help most of those whose symptoms are severe enough. They act by supplying some of the internal secretion
which the patient's own glands fail to supply.

This is a period when many women have leisure time—often for the first time in many years.
The menopause ushers in a period
of life which has special opportunities for enjoyment.

During the usual two or three-year period of adjustment a woman should be active both mentally and physically. It is not too late to renew old interests which have perhaps fallen by the wayside while children were small or to develop new interests which a woman can follow the rest of her life.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions
in his column.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

QUESTION: Is a faint color of yellowish brown or light pink in the spectrum a symptom of tuberculosis?

ANSWER: If this occurs at all frequently, the sputum
should be examined for blood and for the germs of tuberculosis. Also, it would be wise to have an X-ray of the chest and perhaps other tests. Tuberculosis is by no means the only cause for coloring of the sputum.

THE STORY: Until Barry Bata-

bridge's millions saved the life of Gaynel, Fritz's younger sister Pat, Gaynel could not persuade himself to accept Barry's proposal of marriage. However she has just about reached a decision in spite of her fondness for Fritz Freyman, who is by no means wealthy. Fritz invites Gaynel for an evening out—away from Detroit where they live. They start out for Canada and are stopped
by a police officer for a traffic violation. By pretending to be eloping, they win the officer's sympathy and he lets them go.

XX

"YOU know," Fritz said, after they had passed the customs and slowed down to almost a crawl
through the tunnel, "I was scared stiff you'd let me down and refuse my offer to make an honest woman
of you, instead of accepting it.

Then, second, I was afraid you had accepted, that the officer
would want to go to the wedding.
Third, I feared it might occur to him—except that he was almost too mad to think straight—that two American citizens cannot elope to Canada to get hitched or unhitched, either way."

"What's the fourth?" Gaynel interrupted. "We broke four laws,
he said. Don't you suppose, silly,
I was afraid of all those things, too? I was so afraid I squeezed out a real tear. . . ."

"Rather than see me in jail!
What a pal!"

"Rather than go myself!" Gaynel retorted. "I was afraid he'd take me right along with you—and after that fibbing I did, I probably deserved it. I think that anyone who drives like you should be locked up."

Fritz said, "Just for that I won't tell you that fourth reason you asked about. It was a honey, too.
It was a little surprise I had planned to top this evening."

She made a face at him as she got out her vanity to endeavor to straighten her hat. "Next time," she promised, "I'll let you go to jail, even if I have to serve a sentence. . . ."

The sea food was as good as Fritz had guaranteed. The drive along the lake was lovely and Jalopee was on her best behavior,
as a lady should be. The moon was full and Fritz was a jewel—
and such a gentleman—that Gay-nel could hardly believe it was he.

"You are spasmodic," she said,
"just as you told me that first night we met. But you do make things more fun than anyone I know, Frederick Fitzroy."

XXX

THE stop at customs was brief.
The entry permits were surrendered—for Fritz hadn't lost his time—and soon they were on their way again.

"Such a contrast with last time," Fritz said with a sigh. "You are wonderful as a passport."

"Why can't you call me something nice?" Gaynel asked. "First I'm your maiden aunt, and next I'm your passport. I deserve better treatment."

"That's just what you're going to get," Fritz said. "The time has come, Madame, to give you that fourth reason. . . . Heavens! What's that?" He had started to put one arm around the top of the seat
again, but now he leaned forward, his face screwed up into a perplexed knot as he listened to the sounds emitting from Jalopee.

"What's what?" Gaynel wished he would keep on without so many interruptions. She could not hear anything different; Jalopee's rattles sounded the same to her. Then even her inexperienced ear caught a new sputtering. Jalopee gave forth one more groan and settled in her tracks.

Gaynel said, "What on earth did you stop for? Don't you know you aren't allowed to stop in the tunnel? Even you can't expect to get away with that."

"I told you Jalopee has temperament," Fritz actually looked proud of the fact. "She does as she pleases. No mere tunnel can give orders to her."

"You mean she won't go?"
"Not until she gets good and ready. Not even then, unless my guess is wrong, from that last groan she gave. . . ."

"In the pink, thank you," Fritz

returned. "Three nice little cell buddies, Jimmy and Johnny and Joe. Don't make ten any better.
And say, did they think you were something to write home about?
That's why I haven't risked taking you to the Nest again. But I'm thinking of trying my wings—a nest on my own—breaking up with the boys!"

She said, "I wish you talked straight English. I'm no good at riddles or anything like them."

He said, "If you'd cultivate patience, Madame. Don't you know the longest way is sometimes the shortest? I'll get there in good time, in my own way. To the top,
in fact."

"YOU see, it's like this," He practically gave Jalopee her head now, settling back deeper into the seat, throwing one arm around Gaynel's back.

"There's a pal of mine who's going to do a favor for me. We started as cubs together in our first pairs of long pants. He got to the top in a jiffy and now he's going to give me a little jerk and yank me up a step or two, for old-time's sake. In straight English—unless you've fallen asleep and aren't listening—he's going to pull me a job, like a rabbit out of a hat, with the outfit he's with.
A real job! One that will take me places, the West Coast, down South, maybe even to China. You know how I like to get around."

"But China's a long way round," Gaynel said. She did not feel so sleepy. She sat up a bit straighter, tried to look up into Fritz's face
to see if he were serious.

"The farther the better," Fritz said. "I'd go to the moon, if I ever got the chance." Barry had said that was where he would take her. "The point is," Fritz
went on, "if you'll give me time to get to it, my love, that if I land the job I'll land a very neat salary along with it. I'll be set.
So pretty that I . . ."

"I say," he sat up straighter.
too, gave Gaynel a little push back down, "here we are at the customs."

"THIS is the fourth reason," Fritz said. He could look at her now like that and she would never try to escape. "The real reason I brought you along on this jaunt. To tell you I'm nuts about you, my sweet. So nutty
I'm going to marry you, now that I can. That's what I've been trying to tell you, in my roundabout way.
Remember I gave my word to the policeman that I'd be good to you
. . ."

"And I promised to call him if you weren't," Gaynel said softly.
This was that moon she had wanted to reach. So much so that neither of them heard another car approaching, or realized it had drawn up beside them, until the driver spoke and brought them down to earth.

"Need a lift?" he asked. "Or is this a sparking spot I hadn't heard of? Out of gas? Got a flat?"

"This is heaven," Fritz said.
"Didn't you know? We don't need any help. Unless you'd report us at the other end of the line, like a good fellow, and suggest they send a wrecker to haul us in."

"Glad to be of service," the man said. He started up again. "I'll tell 'em not to be in too big a hurry," he added with a laugh.

"This isn't as ideal a spot as I thought," Fritz said. "But there should be time for one more kiss
and for you to tell me how soon
we can get married, my love. I wish we could build our nest right here in this tunnel. Let me hear you say you love me, gorgeous,
the same as I love you."

"I love you," Gaynel said, since there was no denial and she nothing else mattered just then.

"Say it again!" Fritz insisted.
"It sounds like music, baby. And prove it again, too. Put your arms around me sweet."

There were moments of silence
before Fritz spoke again. "And by the way, Gay, I'm asking you to marry me, or rather telling you—
in case my English isn't straight enough."

milk cooler cost about $500. His total outlay of cash was about $800. Mr. Ficken said he was producing about 350 pounds of milk per day on which his Grade A premium was approximately $1.20 per hundred. This amounted to over $4 per day or $125 per month.

Paul Bebe Meyer, balanced farming specialist for the University of Missouri college of agriculture at Columbia mentioned the fact that many folks stayed out of the balanced farming program because of the high cost they thought it involved in addition to the $75 membership in the association. Here Mr. Bebe Meyer pointed out was an example where a dairyman spent about $800 to convert to Grade A and which meant an increase in annual income of around $1500. The increase incidentally paid for the remodeling in a little over six months' time.

Monsees Pasture Mixture
Includes timothy, orchard grass, brome, alsike clover and ladine clover.

Olen Monsees recommended the plan of just reworking a part of the permanent pasture each year instead of all at once. "I have two reasons for that," he said. "First, you might have a failure and second, it is an expensive operation."

Mr. Monsees reported that he plowed under 800 pounds of raw rock phosphate per acre on the 8 acres of permanent pasture that he reworked about a year ago. The soil test indicated that there was also a lack of nitrogen and potash so 50 pounds of ammonium nitrate and 65 pounds of muriate of potash were added. No lime was needed.

The 3 grasses timothy, orchard grass and brome grass were seeded in the fall and alsike clover and ladine clover this spring. The wet spring made it impossible to pasture the field as much as the growth would have allowed but Mr. Monsees said it far outyielded any area of equal size in the rest of the 40 acre pasture. At times he had as many as 60 head of cattle on the 8 acres.

See Ladine Clover at Heffernans
An unscheduled stop was made at Edward and Norton Heffernans to see a 3 acre field of ladine clover that had been used all summer as night pasture. Stock pastured here every night included 85 sheep, 9 cattle and 19 hogs and they were not keeping the clover down. With 5 sheep or 10 hogs equal to 1 cow these above livestock numbers would have been equal to 28 head of cattle using the 3 acres for night pasture all summer.

Harry Runge Increases Productivity Per Acre

County agent Roy I. Coplen reviewed some productivity figures that had been gathered on the Runge farm which the Runge moved onto in 1935 but did not purchase until 1941. Since it is a livestock farm, major income is from sheep and beef cattle both of which require considerable pasture. The average animal units of pasture produced on the farm increased from 64 in 1935 to 280 in 1948. Part of this increase came from the number of animal units that could be carried, 16 in 1935 to 40 in 1948, and part from extension of the pasture season, 4 months in 1935 to 7 months in 1948.

Of course back of these production increases had to be pasture seedings and soil treatments. The only soil treatment from 1938 to 1940 was $28 annual for lime. However an average of $148 was spent annually from 1941 to 1946 for lime, fertilizer and pasture seed. Most farm folks use a considerable part of increased farm returns for home improvements as the Runge have done.

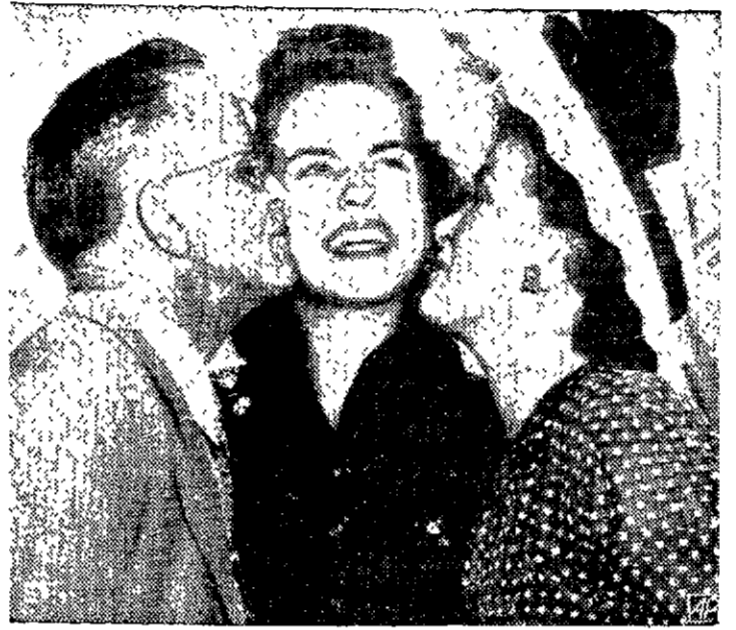

Before the folks went through the Runge home to see the remodeling that had been done Miss Louise Woodruff, home management specialist from the University of Missouri college of agriculture discussed the value of planning for the home as well as for the farm. She said "There are three main factors to be considered in the planning, money time and energy. If any one is in short supply more of one or both the others will be needed and generally some compromises will have to be made.

The less money there is to be spent," she emphasized, "the more important it is to do a good job of planning." Miss Woodruff went on to say that money spent for the home was actually income producing because it gave the homemaker free time to spend on income producing enterprises. "For instance," she stated, "a water system for a family of four will save a month of 8 hour days of water carrying time."

Associate agent Merle Vaughan led the folks to a hill overlooking much of the Runge farm and pointed out the water management practices that had been completed since 1946, including 6 terrace outlets, 4 diversions and 40 acres terraced. More is to be done this fall.

Clean Hog Pastures at Arnolds Most of the group starting the balanced farming tour Tuesday stayed through to the end with practically as many in attendance at the last stop at C. S. Arnolds as started at Bagboys.

Mr. Arnold told the folks he really liked his setup and that his pigs had done better this year on the clean pasture than any year he could remember. The red clover pasture saved him a lot of protein too, he said, as the hogs ate very little tankage while grazing the clover.

Considerable time was spent wandering over a 3 acre lot of ladine clover that will be included in the 1950 hog pasture and which looked very good. Most of the folks who saw the new seeding of ladine on the pasture at Monsees and the 2-year-old seedlings at Heffernans and Arnolds are convinced they want some of their own next year.

Mrs. Macauley to Quit GOP Position

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—Mrs. Robert W. Macauley, assistant chairman of the Republican National committee and director of its women's division, is leaving the post October 1.

Chairman Guy George Gabrielson announced today that he is accepting "with deep regret" the resignation which she submitted August 16. She is staying through this month at Gabrielson's request.

The national committee's announcement said nothing about who will succeed her.

Mrs. Macauley has been active in Republican national committee work since the 1936 presidential campaign, and for the past 11 years she has devoted much time to development of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

Impressions of Miss America As to Europe

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—(AP)—
Bebe Shopp, willowy, blonde Miss America of 1948, returned by air
from her month-long tour of Europe Thursday with these opinions.

The French (diaper-bra) swim suits: "Scanty," and not for Miss Shopp or other American girls.
Up to French girls to decide.

Falsies: Not for Miss Shopp
either, but every girl for herself.

European Morality: "I was on a vacation. I am not on a crusade to clean up Europe, or anything else."

French Beauty: "I saw beautiful women wherever I went . . .
all over."

European Men: "I didn't get a chance to meet European men"
and had mostly American young men for companions.

Marriage proposals: None, but got lots of man mail and one attempted telephone date in Italy.

Happiest country: Italy.
Most thrilling moment: When bullfighters dedicated two bulls to her in Granada, Spain.

Thing most missed in Europe: Milk.

She said some of her remarks on these subjects while she was in Europe were misunderstood.

Miss Shopp, a resident of Hokkings, Minn., said she got a big laugh out of one European newspaper that quoted her as saying
"I don't drink, don't smoke and don't go out with men."

At the time, she said, "four men were seeing me off to the United States."

Police Recover Body From Missouri River

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2—(AP)—
The body of a 72-year-old man, identified as James A. Kirby of Kansas City, was recovered from the Missouri river late Thursday.

Raymond L. Wells, a bridge tender, said he saw the man leap a short time before. The victim's billfold and an envelope were found fastened to a bridge rail
by adhesive tape. The envelope contained a receipt for Eagles lodge dues in Chanute, Kas. The billfold contained $8.

Two policemen recovered the body by boat.

Cigar Conversation

Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) (left) sniffs the smoke from one of the regular brand of cigars smoked by Senator Karl Mundt (R-S Dak) (right) as they sit side-by-side in the Senate Investigations subcommittee hearing room. Earlier during the General Vaughan hearing, McCarthy remarked that Mundt's cigar "makes me lonesome for a little pony I had back on the farm." A couple of days earlier McCarthy asked if something could be done to get Mundt "some cigars made of tobacco."
Both are members of the subcommittee. (AP WIREPHOTO) subcommittee, and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) as the hearing resumed in Washington. Vaughan returned to the witness stand for the second day of questioning. (NEA Telephoto)

County Jail Escapee Caught

Charles "Bud" Jamison, Negro
who escaped from the Pettis county jail last Saturday evening while doing chores around the jail as a trusty, was captured
about 10:30 o'clock Thursday night at his home 706 West Cooper street. Jamison offered no resistance.

Clark Woolery, deputy sheriff
at the jail, received a tip Jamison
was at the address and solicited
the aid of "Butch" Yeager a taxi
cab driver and Police Officers
Sam Lutjen, William Hatfield, James Sizemore and Joe Steffen,
all who were at the place when Jamison was captured.

Woolery went to the front door
and called out asking if the Negro was in the house. He was told "upstairs." Woolery then called up to Jamison to come out and he hid within a few minutes. He was handcuffed and returned to the county jail.

Jamison is serving a jail sentence of 120 days for stealing corn from Ralph Dow at Georgetown.

Threaten Life Of Preston Tucker

CHICAGO, Sept. 2—(AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times said that Preston Tucker, head of the Tucker Corp., had reported receiving threats against his life.

Tucker reported that the threats were relayed to him through a former official of the rear-engine automobile company, the Sun-Times said. This official attributed the threats to members of the Capone syndicate who lost large sums of money on franchises for the proposed automobile, the newspaper said.

The Sun-Times said Tucker reported his life had been threatened after a prowler was seen tampering with a ninth floor window leading to Tucker's Lake Shore Drive apartment.

Tucker was not available for comment.

The Tucker corporation, now undergoing reorganization, never got into production. Tucker and a number of former officials of the company are under indictment on mail fraud and conspiracy charges.

One Killed In Riot In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Sept. 2—(AP)—At least one person was killed and four others

wounded when police opened fire
last night on crowds of rioting
natives in Johannesburg streets.
The battle followed a day of native passive resistance to a city council decision to raise fares
two to three pence on streetcars
set aside for non-Europeans.

How to Play Canasta: 5 Improper Play Brings Penalty

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Certain irregularities in Canasta
call for point penalties.
These penalties, which are given below, are deducted from your score towards game at the end of the hand. For example, if your score is 1550 points, and you commit an irregularity that calls for a 100-point penalty, it does not mean that your score is immediately reduced to 1450 points for the purpose of determining your initial minimum meld requirement.

Irregular draw	50 points
Drawing out of turn	100 points
Adding an irregular draw to your hand	100 points
An additional	100 points
Failure to go out after receiving permission from partner	100 points
Melding out of turn	100 points
Attempting to take dis- card out of turn	100 points

IRREGULARITIES: The generally accepted rules of bridge and other card games regulate the irregularities in deals.

When a player draws too many cards, this error is rectified by discarding without drawing at each turn until his hand is correct.
If a player discards without drawing he cannot pick up his discard, but he can be required to take the top card of the stock pile.

When a player exposes one or more cards from his hand, except to make a legal meld, all of the exposed cards must be left face up on the table and discarded one at a time in successive turns.

However, the player may use any of these exposed cards to form
melds, or to take the pack.

If, for the initial meld for his side, a player shows less than the required count, he must validate his meld if possible with additional cards. If he cannot do so or does not do so before discarding, all the cards he has exposed from his hand are treated as exposed cards.

If he has incorrectly taken the discard, he must restore it to the pile before making his own discard from his exposed cards.

If a player makes a meld including more than three wild cards, or attempts to add a wild card to a meld already containing three wild cards (other than a completed Canasta, he must, if possible, rectify the error. He does this by putting the exposed wild card with another meld. If he is unable to rectify the error, the surplus wild card (or cards) improperly played is treated as an exposed card.

If a player is dealt or draws a red tray and fails to declare it before the play of the deal ends (provided he has had at least one turn to play), his side is penalized 500 points. If he has not had at least one turn to play and the other side goes out, the red trays
in his hand are scored as a minus value of 100 points. The 500-point penalty does not apply.

Minister Amazed
By Calls on Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2—(AP)—Baptist Minister Thomas R.
Byford is a patient man, even when he is continually mistaken
for a bootlegger.

It seems that customers of Harold Byford, convicted Oklahoma City bootlegger, mistakenly call the minister when they get low on spirits in this constitutionally dry state.

Night and day, for months, the slightly tipsy have been phoning
for delivery service.

Sets Fires So He Can Be A Hero

NEW CASTLE, Ky., Sept. 2—(AP)—A 28-year-old farm hand-man who, according to authorities, admitted setting 17 fires in central Kentucky, was quoted as saying that he "played here" at almost every one of them.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Sam
T. Buford, Jr., said the man,
Jesse West, Smithfield, told him:
"I got a big kick out of it. I used delayed action fuses that I got when I was in the army, in the infantry. I'd take the bullet out of a 22 shell and fasten the fuse to it, then light the fuse."
"That would give me plenty of time to get away to a good place which I could watch."

"When it was burning good, I would come running in and save people, horses, property, anything
I could. I got quite a reputation."

West was held to the Henry county grand jury here today on an arson charge.

Thy Will Be Done

When a Christian recites the Lord's Prayer, he must—if he prays with his mind and heart rather than with his lips alone—pause over the words: "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." This phrase itself is a prayer of tremendous meaning and importance. When repeated with real sincerity it is a perfect profession of the love of God.

Man has his own will which he may use in full freedom. He exercises this faculty every time he makes a conscious decision. In the profane or indifferent things of life, the choice he makes has no importance so far as his soul is concerned. But when the choice is between what is morally good or morally bad, he faces the inevitable alternative: to sin or not to sin.

If he chooses to sin, he immediately flaunts the will of God by putting his own desires or pleasure in the first place. He no longer says, "Thy will be done," but "My will be done." He is guilty of pride, which is the essence of every sin.

Sin is always an explicit defiance of the divine will, a renunciation of God's sovereignty and authority. Until he repents and abandons the rebellious spirit which prompted his sin, the sinner remains self-separated from God. He remains in a condition which excludes any possibility of true contentment or peace.

It is the realization that man is free to accept or reject God but can find peace and salvation only through the right exercise of his freedom that gives profound significance to the words of the Lord's Prayer. One must put the will of God first. That means doing good and avoiding evil. It means accepting the burdens and sorrows of life as trials that God has willed men should embrace in patience and resignation.

What should make it easier to conform to God's will is the instinctive knowledge that the Creator is always motivated by infinite wisdom and love. It may seem hard at times to submit to His preeminent will. But we should be comforted by the thought that no matter how sorely tempted we are or how grievously we suffer, the will of God is the same for each one of us: That ultimately we should attain salvation and be in union with Him for eternity.

Sunday School Lesson

Man Must Govern Himself
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The Psalmist in the familiar and beautiful Twenty-third Psalm rejoices that the Lord, who is his Shepherd, leads him in the paths of righteousness.

This theme of righteousness runs everywhere through the Psalms, which express the dominant emphasis throughout the books of the prophets, and the whole religion of the Hebrews. It was this superior morality of Judaism that led many Gentiles proselytes, to become converts to Judaism. Many of these proselytes, as we can see in the pages of the New Testament, became Christian disciples.

The psalmists and prophets put the first emphasis where it rightly belonged—on righteousness in personal life. The godly man was not the professor of a certain faith, but the man who was upright in heart. His sacrifices, burnt offerings, and acts of religion meant nothing unless they were the expressions of a heart sincere and true, subject to God's guidance and God's will.

The religion of Israel was a mass religion, always emphasizing God's choice and call to the nation as a whole, but this emphasis did not in any way minimize the importance of the individual and the soundness of his character and conduct.

This, it seems to me, has a distinct bearing upon our modern democracy, which in a way is a mass affair. We think of democracy often, perhaps too often, as consisting in popular suffrage and the rule of the majority. But the vote of a majority never in-itself made anything right. The true essence of democracy is self-rule. It is rule from within. When the rule of kings is discarded, it is the individual who becomes king, and if he abdicates, democracy may become a very sorry affair. Is not our greatest weakness today at this very point—the fact that so many citizens fail to exercise their prerogatives and privileges, to say nothing of their plain duty?

The Old Testament Scriptures dealt with this to the point of extreme severity. It was not only in the Psalms and Prophecies, but the historic books and early history made plain one's place and duty as a member of society. There was the terrible example of Achan, who, in an hour of victory stole a Babylonian garment, and bars of silver for himself. He met a tragic fate, but profiteering Achan's in their country's hour of danger have not been lacking in later history, nor in our own time.

National righteousness to the Psalmist, meant justice. Conceptions of right and judgment were at the heart of all relationships. As the individual was responsible for his personal integrity, those who ruled, that is society, were responsible for rights, liberties, and fair dealings.

It is the sense of right and judgment that we most need today. It is in the moral foundations that modern societies are weakest. Too many issues are settled, not upon the basis of what is right and fair, but upon the power of individuals, or groups, to enforce their will. But no question is ever settled until it is settled right.

Music Clubs

Hymn of Month

The National Federation of Music Clubs "Hymn of the Month" for September is "O God of Love, O King of Peace." The text of the hymn was written by Henry Williams Baker.

This hymn is a devout and earnest prayer for peace and world friendship, accompanied by humble confession of sin. The prayer of the last stanza is that our hearts may be united in love and heavenly peace, as are the ones in heaven.

The hymn will be used by all the churches and organizations of Sedalia during the month of September and is being sponsored by the Helen G. Steele Music club, a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

A Vicious Murderer Is Shot To Death

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—John Calvin Russell, jailbreaker accused of one of Florida's most vicious murders, was shot to death by officers in an orange grove Thursday.

Tracked down by bloodhounds and surrounded by eight carloads of heavily armed lawmen, the 34-year-old former insane hospital patient came out fighting. Four pistol shots and three shotgun rounds cut him down.

He lived only long enough to gasp, "you fellows have killed me—I'm glad you did."

Russell was charged with murdering Norman Browne, elderly Crystal Beach resident, on Aug. 7.

78 Dead, 364 Injured In Japanese Typhoon

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The toll of the Tokyo area's typhoon, and its companion, flood, reached 78 dead and 364 injured today.

Heavy rain fell in the populous Tokyo-Yokohama region. This not only increased the misery of typhoon victims but heightened the threat of additional floods.

The greatest flood menace was on the Kanto plain north and east of Tokyo.

In Tokyo alone, relief agencies took care of 49,000 Japanese whose homes either were smashed or damaged by the typhoon or were menaced by the floods.

Theaters Now Have Time-Payment Plan

WOODBRIIDGE, N. J., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The time-payment plan came to the theater Thursday.

The Woodbridge drive-in theater announced it had opened charge accounts for its patrons.

"If temporarily you can't spare the cash to see the movies, come any way," theater operator Walter Reade announced in newspaper advertisements.

Reade said he would distribute credit books to anyone showing a social security card and a driver's license.

"No checkups, co-signers or charges will be asked," he said. "Nor will patrons be billed; they will be trusted to pay what they owe within a reasonable time."

Each of the credit books contain 40 tickets. Reade said his organization will advance the 20 percent federal tax on each admission.

Owens, of Dawn, Mo., was operating a grader attached to the bulldozer leveling off the shoulders of the highway preparatory to sodding. The grader struck a rock, overturning the machine.

He was an employee of the Atkinson-Wingler Construction company of Chillicothe, Mo.

Merchants In State Softball Tournament

At Springfield, To Play Opener At 9:00 Tonight

The Sedalia Merchants softball team will enter the State Softball Championship tournament at Springfield, Mo., this evening. They will play at 9:00 o'clock tonight at Fasnigh field, there, meeting the runner-up team of the Springfield district.

The following players will make the trip, leaving before 5:00 o'clock this afternoon from the home of the assistant manager, Frank Lueck, 420 Wilkerson: Omar Simon and Vernon Bredehoeft, pitchers (the latter being from Emma, acquired for the tourney); Rocky Carver, Charles Weller, Frank Lueck, Charles Fennell and Robert Ream, infielders; John Swisher, Leo Richards, Paul Evans, Bud Klink and Joseph Paxton, outfielders.

The starting lineup has not been announced.

Next Game
If the Merchants win their opening contest tonight, they will play next at 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon. If they lose, they play at 8:00 o'clock Saturday evening, in which event many of the players will stay in Springfield over night.

If they should lose their opener, they would still be in the tourney, since it is being conducted under the double elimination system.

This will be the fourth year this team has participated in the state tournament. The squad missed the affair last year, but in the three years preceding that they played in it under the name of the Sacred Heart Red Birds.

Fast Records

The Merchants are champions of the Central Missouri Softball league, and were runner-up in the district tournament of the Marshall district. Sweet Springs won the district title with a 2 to 0 shutout of the Merchants.

Sweet Springs is also entered in the state tournament, and will play their first game at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning when they meet Rockingham, Mo., runner-up team of the Carrollton district. A total of 24 teams will participate in the tourney.

The Merchants go into the tournament with an exceptional record—28 wins against only seven losses, a winning percentage of .80.

Third Round Match In National Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(P)—"This is a wide open tournament," said top-seeded Ted Schroeder as he awaited the call today for his third round match in the national tennis championships.

As an example, Schroeder pointed to the way young Art Larson, lean left-hander from San Leandro, Calif., came from behind to dump John Bromwich, Australian Davis Cup captain, 3-6, 7-9, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 yesterday. That landed Larson in the quarter-finals along with defending champion Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles, whom he meets next, and Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla.

Schroeder, from La Crescenta, Calif., was to make his bid for a quarter-final berth today against Sam Patch of Los Angeles. Match routed Gianni Cucelli, the Italian Davis Cup ace, 6-0, 7-3, 6-1, yesterday while the Wimbledon champion swept past Vladimir Cernik, the self-exiled Czech, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Two Teams Undefeated In Semi-Pro Tourney

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 2.—(P)—The National Semi-Pro Baseball tournament begins its third week of competition tonight with only two teams still undefeated.

Out of the original field of 32 teams, 21 have been eliminated. It takes two defeats to oust a team.

The two unbeaten clubs—the Golden, Colo., Coors and the Fort Wayne, Ind., Electric—clash tonight. Each has won four victories. The Indians are defending champions.

Three teams were knocked out of the tournament in last night's play. The Weimar, Tex., Truckers eliminated the Milwaukee, Wis., Fisks, 8-0. The Tuscaloosa, Ala., Indians handed the Eloy, Ariz., Apocs their second defeat, 9-2.

In the third one-sided game, Elk City, Okla., ousted the South Amboy, N. J., Athletic Association, 15-1.

National Caddie Championship Swings Into The Third Round

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 2.—(P)—The fourth National Caddie championship swings into the third round of match play today, with 18 youngsters still scrapping for the $1500 college scholarship which goes to the victor.

Eight Ohioans and single entrants from Kansas, Missouri, Massachusetts, West Virginia, Texas, New York, Illinois and Michigan survived yesterday's opening rounds. The field will be whittled to four today, setting the stage for Saturday's 36-hole semi-finals and Sunday's title round.

The 'A' in Saigh is Silent, Card Owner's Money Talks

By Frank Eck
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
NEW YORK — Fred M. Saigh has changed his mind about big league baseball.

When he bought the St. Louis Cardinals last January it was just another business investment, or so he thought at the time. But Saigh, a pleasant yet serious-minded Syrian, has fallen in love with his Red Birds, lock, stock and barrel.

Fred M. Saigh
Dreaming of a series.

He owns 99 percent plus of their stock — seven shares are held by a doctor, a printer and a history professor — and intends to put any profit he makes back to improve the club and its vast minor league holdings.

Saigh has even quit as a practicing attorney and is devoting all his time to the front office, even to the extent of doubling as general manager. He has moved his office to Sportsman's Park in St. Louis where he usually is one of the first on the scene and the last to leave the day of a Cardinal game.

By January, Saigh says he will know definitely whether the Cardinals will build a new ball park. At present they are tenants of the St. Louis Browns who, on several occasions this year, have sought to raise the $35,000 yearly rental charged the Cards.

Park Upkeep is High

"Truth of the matter is," says Saigh in a very calm manner "that the rental actually runs much higher when you consider it will cost the Cardinals an additional $100,000 this season to

Redbirds Are Roosting Good With Schedule in Their Favor

By Joe Reichler
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Redbirds are roosting pretty today. Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cardinals never were better off than they are right now. Not only are they leading the Brooklyn Dodgers by two full games, but the remaining schedule is all in their favor.

The Cards have 27 games left to play, and 18 of them are at home. On the other hand, the second place Brooks must play 17 of their remaining 27 games on foreign fields.

Furthermore, 13 of the Cards' games are against the seventh and eighth place Cincinnati and Chicago clubs. The Browns have 13 to play with the third and fourth place Boston and New York teams. They have played under .500 ball against these first divisioners, winning 15 and losing 16 to the Giants and Braves.

In American League, it is likely the seven games between the league leading New York Yankees and runner-up Boston Red Sox will settle the issue. The Red Sox trail the Yankees by three games.

Both runners-up lost ground yesterday. The Dodgers got off on the right foot, outscoring Cincinnati 11-8, in the afternoon portion of a day-night double-header. The Reds doubled back, however, to upset the Brooks, 4-3, in the 10-inning nightcap. At the same time, the Cards were knocking off the Phillies in Philadelphia to pick up half a length on the Brooks. Howie Pollet spun a five-hitter for his 17th victory.

The Red Sox led with their ace —20 game winner Mel Parnell—but they were trumped by the Detroit Tigers, who shut them out, 7-0, behind the seven-hit pitching of Art Houtteman. The Yankees wobbled a victory. The Yankees came through with their patented "squeaker," a wobbly 4-3 victory over the Browns in St. Louis. Tommy Byrne picked up his 12th victory but needed help from ace fireman Joe Page in the ninth.

The Cleveland Indians, baseball marathon champs, won another overtime tussle, edging out the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-1, in 11 innings. It was the Indians' 17th straight overtime victory and their 18th in 19 extra-inning games.

Randy Gumpert pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 win over Washington. Dick Weik's 13 walks helped the White Sox no end.

The third place Boston Braves in the National whipped the Chicago Cubs, 8-4, as catcher Bill Salkeld batted in five runs with a home run and two singles. Warren Spahn picked up his 17th pitching triumph.

Despite Ralph Kiner's grand slam homer for Pittsburgher, the New York Giants defeated the Pirates 9-5, on round trippers by Hank Thompson, Bobby Thomson and Billy Rigney. The Giants moved into fourth place, a half game over the Phils.

Saigh sees future Cardinals on many clubs. At Rochester he is ready to bring in Steve Bilko, home run hitting first baseman, who recently hit four homers in a twin bill against Newark. On one of their Class D teams they have another Joe Medwick who is hitting .410. This year he added the Geneva Red Birds in the Alabama state league and by next spring plans to have two more Class D teams in the huge chain.

Believes in Good Will

Saigh, who considers himself "very lucky rather than smart" because of the many successful business deals that have come his way, is using every idea at his command to build good will with Cardinal fans.

During the July series with the Dodgers it rained before one of the games. The stands were packed. Saigh promptly got in touch with the weather bureau and the park announcer inform the fans about the weather man's

Warrensburg Wins VFW Tournament

Knights Of Columbus Win 7-6 In 10th For Third Place

Warrensburg won the VFW tournament at Windsor, Thursday night, with a 2 to 0 shutout of Ionia, to give that team second place. Griffith allowed only one hit to Ionia, with Elmell as his battery mate. Hayes pitched for Ionia, with Keyte catching. The feature hit of the game was a home run by Wardlow.

The Knights of Columbus took third place in the Windsor VFW softball tournament by defeating Warsaw last night in a ten inning game by the score of 7 to 6. This was one of the longest games of the year, which found Warsaw coming from behind to tie the score in the last of the seventh by scoring 3 runs on one hit and two errors by the Knights, these being the only errors made by the Knights in the tournament.

The Knights scored the winning run in the top of the tenth on a base on balls to Means, a sacrifice, an error on Villmer's bunt, a sacrifice by R. Dick, a walk to W. Dick and a fly by Lyles.

The Knights jumped into a four run lead by scoring once in the first and 3 in the fourth but Warsaw narrowed it by scoring 3 in the fifth. Hits by W. Dick and Villmer made it 6 to 3 in the sixth after which Warsaw tied it up in the seventh.

R. Dick and Villmer, with two hits, led the hitting for the Knights. Schvermer made two fine catches in the field for the Knights. Lyles pitched a steady game for the Knights allowing 5 hits and walking four men. This gives the Knights a record of all games played this year—22 won and 11 lost. Next Thursday the Knights play Pilot Grove at that place.

Score by innings:
K. of C. 100 302 000 1-7 8 2
Warsaw 000 030 00-6 5 1
Batteries — K. of C. Lyles and D. Weller; Warsaw: Jones, Warren (4) and Harms.

Some Injuries Among Camps Of Big Seven

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—(P)—A few minor injuries began turning up in Big Seven football camps today, but none compared with the blow dealt the Iowa State Cyclones.

Additional Sports on Page Ten

The Cyclones' setback stemmed from a casualty of last year. Webb Halbert, the team's star halfback, won't be able to play this year. Halbert suffered a concussion in the Michigan State game last season.

Doctors at the Iowa State infirmary said yesterday they would advise him not to play this fall for fear the injury might recur.

Halbert, who comes from Chaffee, Mo., is a senior and a two-year letterman. Coach Abe Stuber has been counting on an improved offensive and Halbert would have been an important factor.

The Iowans went through their first scrimmage yesterday. Conditioning continued on a routine basis in other Big Seven camps.

The University of Oklahoma emphasized passing. Jordan Hoopes, a tackle, injured a shoulder and became the squad's first casualty.

Colorado concentrated on dummy tackling. Kansas State planned its first heavy contact work, including scrimmage, today.

Two new men showed up yesterday at the University of Kansas. Ed Carl Sandefur and Jay Drake, former Lawrence high school players, suited up and participated in a lengthy scrimmage.

At Missouri

At Missouri, Coach Don Faurot spent most of the afternoon on fundamentals.

The University of Nebraska chancellor watched the Cornhuskers romp through a practice session — and voiced one objection. He didn't like the stained and marked "T" shirts many of the players were wearing.

So the chancellor, R. C. Gustavson, suggested a more "dressed up" appearance. New shirts were ordered.

Shotton Getting Tougher As Dodgers Enter Pennant Drive

BROOKLYN, Sept. 2.—(P)—A new and tough Burt Shotton emerged yesterday as the Brooklyn Dodgers started their September drive for the National league pennant by knocking down the Cincinnati Reds 11 to 8.

The usually quiet Brooklyn manager first delivered a fighting talk to his team, telling them caustically that "you can't win a pennant sitting on the bench." Then he practiced what he preached, and was thrown out of the ball park for the first time in three seasons as Brooklyn field boss.

The explosion that resulted in his banishment came in the ninth inning when he protested against a base on balls that walked in a run.

Firing up his team for the battle to overtake the St. Louis Cardinals, Shotton made it clear that his regular would have to get out there and play regularly.

The usually mild-mannered pilot indicated that the supposed depth of the Brooklyn team is something of a myth. The substitutes just aren't as good as the firststring men, he said flatly.

Whether he had the idea that some of the regulars who have been out of the lineup with injuries or ailments could have been playing, he did not say, but he left no doubt that he expected every man to do his duty.

"I can't afford to lose these men," he said, indicating that "these men" were such regulars as Carl Furillo, Duke Snider, Gene Hermanski, Gil Hodges, Jackie Robinson, Peeewe Reese and Billy Cox.

"I am convinced that any of these regulars can do better, whether sick or hurt, than anybody I can bring off the bench—that is, if the regulars have the desire."

"We tried taking men off the bench and filling in. A rusty man can't do as good a job as a regular. We can't afford to do without our regular playing every day."

Shotton used Robinson as an example of what spirit can do. Robinson, who has been one of the three men to play every game this year, injured his heel in Philadelphia Aug. 9.

"He was hurt, but the next night he hit a home run to win the game," Shotton said. "That's the mark of a champion."

Shotton's unexpected inspirational talk came on the heels of a four-game winning streak, and in view of that his words were taken as a warning of what might happen unless they played the game up to the hilt, rather than as a rebuke for something that had happened.

The Dodgers made it five wins in a row by whipping Cincinnati 11-8.

Eddie Sawyer Signs New Two-Year Contract

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—(P)—Eddie Sawyer Thursday signed a new 2-year contract as manager.

of the Philadelphia Phillies with added powers and promptly announced only four players are sure of their jobs next year.

Bob Carpenter, president-owner of the club, declined to disclose contract figures but said the new agreement calls for a raise for Sawyer and includes an attendance clause.

Eight More Cardinals Get Pay Increases

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2.—(P)—Eight more players of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals have been given pay increases.

Some got the pay hikes because they convinced Cardinal owner, Fred Saigh by their play that they were worth more than their contracts called for.

The others were offered new contracts, Saigh said, because any player good enough to make the grade with the Redbirds is going to receive more than the league's minimum salary of $5,000.

Saigh verified the salary boosts today when he was confronted with a report from the Cincinnati office of Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler that new contracts had been filed for the eight players.

Among those who were given new contracts are Red Schencken, the veteran second baseman who is having one of his greatest seasons; Ted Wilks, the ace relief pitcher; Pitcher Red Munger, who has staged a comeback this year, and Fred Martin, the former Mexican leaguer who has proved himself a winning pitcher since he rejoined the Cardinals in mid-season.

Other Pay Hikes

The other pay hikes went to centerfielder Chuck Diering, catcher Joe Garagiola, first baseman Rocky Nelson, and pitcher Bill Reeder.

"These players fall into two different classifications," Saigh said. "Some of these players have been receiving the minimum major league salary. I want to make clear that any player staying with the club after the date when the roster has to be cut down will be given a salary in excess of the minimum required. If anyone's good enough to stick with the club he's going to receive more than the minimum salary."

"In the other category are players who have demonstrated they're entitled to a raise by their superior play."

Several other Cardinals were given pay increases earlier in the season. These included pitcher Howard Pollet, third baseman Tommy Glaviano and Eddie Kazak and utility infielder Lou Klein, a refugee from the Mexican league who rejoined the Cards in mid-season.

Sedalia Tigers Start Practice In Good Shape

S-C Coach "Stub" Dow Opens Season With 36 Reporting

The Smith-Cotton Tigers, Central Missouri Conference Champions, opened the 1949 football season with their first official practice session at 9:30 Thursday morning.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow got things off to an active start by issuing the equipment which included new practice jerseys appropriately labeled "Stolen From Sedalia High School." This message is actually an inscribed "burglar alarm" used to halt the annual disappearance of the sweaters at the close of the season.

Thirty-six boys reported for practice but Coach Dow said he expects many more to show up after school begins.

During the morning the boys worked on running, passing and correct positions which are essential to a well formed and polished team. It was easy to pick out the boys who had been working out on their own this summer, however, the remaining group turned in a comparatively good performance for the first day of practice.

In the afternoon the boys worked on calisthenics until they had limbered up then they worked on 1 on 1 and 2 on 1 blocking. During the last period of practice they scrimmaged showing good beginning form.

Coach Dow said he was pleased with the days performance and believed the aggregation was in good shape for the first day; that if the boys worked hard and cooperated they would be well ready for their first game with Marshall on Thursday, Sept. 16.
